INSERT TO ADDRESS IS ABANDONED BY COX

DAYTON — (By Associated Press) — Governor Cox abandoned his plan to have an insert to his address. He announced early Saturday that there would be no insert and that the speech as sent in advance to the press would stand.

DAYTON — (By Associated Press) — National Democracy Saturday took up the battle gauge with its Republican opponents for America's greatest political prize the presidency.

With Saturday's formal notification of and acceptance by Governor James M. Cox of the Democratic presidential nomination voted him at the San Francisco convention July 6 the national campaign was on between the two dominant parties, except for similar ceremonies next Monday at Hyde Park, N. Y., for Franklin D. Roosevelt the Democratic vice presidential nominee.

Democratic legions by thousands representing the party's leadership and rank and file, joined Saturday in ceremony of presenting their leader to the American electorate. All states, territories and possessions were represented in the day's program which culminated in Governor Cox's address of acceptance stating the Democratic cause.

HALF HOLIDAY IN DAYTON
Dayton gave itself over to this, its first presidential notification. A half holiday was in force for the ceremony this afternoon at the Montgomery-Cox Fair Grounds, while Ohio and other states sent thousands more by special trains, automobiles and other conveyances.

Like city buildings and homes, the fair grounds tossed decorations of flags, bunting and banners, with gilt shields and evergreen. Lithographed pictures of Governor Cox by thousands were on display. At the fair grounds, seat for about 4,000 were provided in the flag-decked amphitheatre and special auxiliary grandstands. The speaker's rostrum, adjoining the race course flanked with trees, giants in their age, was the judges' stand, almost concealed under swaths of red, white and blue. The brown dirt race track and oval enclosure, together with grassy paddock plots at either end of the amphitheatre were set aside for the crowd which gathered here today. None were out of ear-shot of the speakers, an electrical sound amplifying device having been installed to carry the Democratic battle-cry beyond the farthest person in the grounds.

LINEUP OF PARADE

DAYTON — (By United Press) — With the formal acceptance of the Democratic presidential nomination by Governor James M. Cox here Saturday, his party sends forth to the people of the nation its challenge for the great political battle with the Republicans.

The parade was one of the greatest ever held in Dayton, composed of eleven divisions, headed by the famous Piqua Meteor band which never was to tread to play the Cox-Ohio song at San Francisco. Next in line were the Cox boosters at San Francisco wearing green coats, white trousers, and straw hats with red, white and blue bands. One of the noisiest delegations that arrived early came from Middletown, Cox's boyhood home.

A striking feature was a group of miners from Cambridge, Ohio, wearing their overalls and mine lamps. "Tell Jimmy we're coming, because we are for him," was the advance notice they sent.

The line-up of the other delegations was as follows:

Innocent Club of Chicago and Philadelphia; Guffey Club of Pittsburgh; Greensburg, Pa. New York City, California and the following from Ohio:

Middletown, Hamilton, Camden, Eaton, Hamilton-co, including Cincinnati, Crawford-co, Morrow-co, Franklin-co, including Columbus; Piqua, Troy, Greenville, Allen-co; Sidney, Batavia, Loveland, Greenfield, Chillicothe, Delaware, Springfield, Akron, Mansfield, London, Newark, Zanesville, Fostoria, Wood-co, Indianapolis, Louisville, Fort Wayne and Hardin-co.

Local Democrats, numbering about 5,000 were assigned to the rear of the parade.

KIDNAPER 'CRANK' MAY 'SQUEAL'

Expected to Locate Baby Coughlin Before Saturday Night

PHILADELPHIA — (By United Press) — Augusto Pasquale alleged to be "The Crank" in the mysterious case of the kidnapping of Blakely Coughlin, Norristown, Pa., baby had his first night's sleep in five days Friday night.

The man was completely exhausted after constant questioning since his arrest on Monday. When he promised to tell all he knew at 5 p. m. Saturday unless the child was turned over to its parents by that time, authorities, agreed to permit him to rest during the night.

Jail attendants awakened him early Saturday, however, and he was again cross-examined. Late Friday, officials who had been questioning Pasquale announced that he had sent an "ultimatum" to his alleged confederates, in which he declared if the child was not returned at 5 p. m., he would "squeal."

Authorities, however, doubted the sincerity of the man and believed it was probably a ruse in a fight for time. Pasquale has often employed tactics attempting to delay the inquisition since his arrest.

BOSSISM SCORED BY WANAMAKER

G. O. P. Candidate for Senator
Makes Stinging Attack

COLUMBUS — (By United Press) — Closing his campaign for the Republican nomination for United States Senator, Judge R. M. Wanamaker, Akron, Saturday launched another stinging attack against alleged "bossism" in the Ohio Republican ranks and flayed Walter F. Brown, Toledo, as the candidate of the bosses for the senatorial nomination.

"The three Ohio bosses, Boss Brown, of Toledo, Boss Hynicka of New York, and Cincinnati, and Boss Maschke, of Cleveland, endorsed the candidacy of Boss Brown at a conference in Chicago," Wanamaker declared in a statement issued prior to making his last campaign speech here Saturday night.

It was part of the deal, according to Wanamaker, that Hynicka should be re-elected to the Republican national committee. "It almost gags a self-respecting Republican to feel that his party is represented in its national committee by a man like Hynicka," Wanamaker declared.

INDICTED FOR MURDER.

COLUMBUS — Indictments charging first degree murder in the act of robbery were returned by the Franklin-co grand jury late Friday against Fred Roell and Herbert Fletcher, confessed slayers of Mrs. Betty McCarrick July 24. William R. Roell, father of Fred Roell, who has confessed to assisting his son dismantle a stolen automobile, was indicted on a grand larceny charge.

RESTRICTIONS PLACED ON PERMITS FOR WHOLESALE HANDLING OF LIQUOR

WASHINGTON — In an effort to simplify enforcement of the Volstead act, officials under the direction of Prohibition Commissioner Kramer, Saturday began to restrict issuance of permits to handle liquor in wholesale quantities. This action followed announcement by Mr. Kramer that the wholesale traffic presented the greatest problem in prohibition enforcement.

Elimination by the government of the wholesale liquor dealer was forecast as a possibility by officials of internal revenue bureau.

HARDING'S CAMP 'BEATING TIME'

Eagerly Awaiting Cox Speech
Before Going into Action

MARION — (By United Press) — Everyone in the Harding camp was eagerly awaiting delivery of the acceptance speech of Governor Cox Saturday. The reaction of the county to the speech will be watched closely and will give Harding his cue for future discussion of the league of nations issue.

Harding has resolved that the league issue shall be predominant and he is only awaiting acceptance of the issue by Governor Cox. It is expected that Harding will elaborate in greater details before long. Although he has discussed the league in general terms in recent speeches and statements, he has not gone beyond his acceptance speech in defining his attitude. He has felt that Governor Cox's position should be made clear before he took an additional step.

A few visitors were scheduled for Saturday, but it was to be mainly a day of recreation and rest.

SMUGGLING JAPS REAFFIRMED

New Evidence of Illegal Entry
Alleged at Seattle

TACOMA, Wash. — (By Associated Press) — Reiterating his statement as to the existence of what he termed an organized system of smuggling Japanese into the United States Representative Albert Johnson, chairman of the house committee on immigration and naturalization, Saturday said he would submit evidence first to the departments of state and labor.

Within six hours of the issuance of his first statement on the subject, eight Japanese, he said, were taken from the liner Eastern Temple at Seattle in an attempt to enter the United States illegally, and two others escaped in a row-boat. He said such incidents were proof that Japanese were illegally entering the country, but added the opinion that the Japanese government was ignorant of the routes used.

ALLIES START WAR PLANS

All Bands At Dayton
Playing Just One
Tune Today

DAYTON — Every one of the numerous bands here Saturday seemed to be playing just one tune. It was the Cox Ohio song, which reached a pinnacle of fame by its almost continuous use at San Francisco. It promises to be the big campaign song and groups here and there are singing these improvised words:

"Ohio, Ohio,
"The hills send back the cry.
"We're here to do or die.
"Ohio, Ohio.
"We'll elect Jim Cox or know the reason why."

The original of the song was "Didn't he ramble?" and in another modified form, was the battle cry of the Buckeye (37th) division in France.

MOBS ATTACK MILITIAMEN

Foreign Element Driven Out As Homes Are Burned

JOHNSON CITY, Ill. — (By United Press) — Five hundred additional state troops arrived early Saturday in West Frankfort, five miles from here, to reinforce militiamen already on the ground in suppressing race rioting.

The little mining town was reported to be comparatively quiet Saturday, following sporadic fighting between small groups of citizens and some of the few remaining foreigners Friday night, which was quickly suppressed by soldiers.

Casualties already had totalled five dead and more than 50 wounded. Practically all the homes of foreign residents, particularly Italians, had been razed by incendiary fires and many store buildings were burned.

FOREIGN EXODUS GENERAL

The most potent factor in relieving the tense situation was said to be general exodus of the foreign population, following the decree that "all foreigners must go." It was believed that soon there would be none left to incite the anger of the anti-foreign mob, composed mostly of miners.

Direct communication from West Frankfort was still impossible early Saturday, owing to telegraph and telephone wires having been cut by the rioters Thursday night, when the outbreak started.

The town was completely in charge of the militia, under Brigadier General Frank D. Wells, who arrived late Friday night. All pool rooms, ice cream parlors and gathering places of the youth of the town were closed. The tenseness of the situation was illustrated by an incident Friday night. Captain C. D. Summers, of the ninth infantry arrived with four privates from Mount Vernon to join their company. As they stepped from the train, they were greeted with a shower of bricks from a group of rioters, one of the privates being seriously hurt. Summer fired into the crowd and they fled.

ITALIANS BEATEN

Three Italians, who sought to enter the town Friday night by train, were badly beaten and put back on the train. Several minor clashes occurred.

Officials meanwhile continued the investigation of the murder of Tony Hemphill, 18, and Arnel Calcaterra, 14, whose death was the direct cause of the outbreak. This section had been terrorized for months by the band of Italians and the miners were growing more and more restive. Shortly after the mutilated bodies of the boys were found in a woods, three Italians were arrested on suspicion of their murder. The hatred of the American element crystallized and an attempt was made to lynch the three men. They were taken to Springfield and the mob proceeded to vent their rage on other foreign residents of the town.

FEDERAL TROOPS CALLED OUT

Mob Attack on Car Barns Repelled by Rifle Fire

(By Associated Press.)

DENVER, Colo. — Two hundred soldiers, under Colonel C. C. Ballou, arrived here Saturday from Fort Logan to maintain order just as leaders of the tramway men's union voted to recommend calling off the street car men's strike which has been followed by two days of violence, resulting in the deaths of three men and wounding of a dozen persons Friday night.

Altho the tramway men were to meet Saturday to take a vote on the recommendation of their executive committee, Governor Shoup in a statement at Colorado Springs, said that the action of the union leaders would not serve to halt the arrival of troops. Five hundred more soldiers were under orders at Camp Funston to leave Saturday.

REPELLED BY RIFLE.

In a statement issued shortly after the announcement of the union leaders, Frederick W. Hild, general manager of the tramway company, announced that the striking carmen would be taken back but that there would be no working agreement with the union and the union would not be recognized. The statement further declares that preference in filling vacancies would be given the strike-breakers employed by the company to run cars.

The call for federal troops was issued Friday night when a mob attacked the East Denver car barns and was repelled with rifle fire. Three men were killed and a dozen persons, including women, girls and boys, were wounded. Several similar gatherings had been broken up earlier in the evening by the police with the assistance of a thousand volunteers recruited from American Legion members.

GIRLS AMONG WOUNDED

The leader of the strike-breakers at the Denver car barns declared that shooting there was caused by attacks of a mob on an automobile load of strike-breakers who were arriving at the car barns. Rocks and bricks were hurled at the car and the men in the car barns repelled with rifle fire. Hundreds of persons in the neighborhood were attracted by the firing and four children, two girls and two boys, and a woman were among those hit by bullets.

The rioting of Friday night brought the casualties resulting from the strike disturbances to five dead and fifty known injured. Heavy property loss to the tramway company and the Denver Post also resulted.

Seven members of the union comprising the executive committee in charge of the strike, were convicted of contempt of court Friday and ordered to call off the strike. The charges were based upon the calling of a strike in face of an injunction issued by Judge Greeley W. Whitford in district court.

CONFESSES ASSAULTS.
OTHERS PAY PENALTY

WASHINGTON — William Henry Campbell, a negro under arrest here, charged with the murder of Mrs. Gertrude Harrison Mann, has confessed, according to the police, that he was the man who attacked four women in and near Washington last June, precipitating race riots.

For two of the attacks to which Campbell has confessed, Louis Randall, another negro, is serving a 45 year sentence in the Atlanta penitentiary, his sentence of death having been commuted by President Wilson. For a third of the assaults, Forrest Eagan, another negro, is serving twenty years in the Maryland state penitentiary.

KENTUCKY VOTES TODAY
LOUISVILLE, Ky. — Kentucky held primaries Saturday in seven of the eleven congressional districts to determine party standard bearers for the November election. No statewide primary was held inasmuch as no state officers are to be elected this year and the candidates for United States senator, long term, Richard P. Ernst, Republican, of Covington, and J. C. W. Beckham, Democratic incumbent, of Frankfort, are unopposed.

GREECE HONORS

Dr. Blanche Norton

Dr. Blanche Norton of Eldon Ia., has just been decorated with the Order of King George I by King Alexander of Greece. The honor was bestowed in recognition of her services in treating the typhoid-typhus eyes of Greek orphans from which she herself contracted the disease. She is the first woman ever to be decorated with the Order of King George I.

NATION PERILED, FLETCHER SAYS

Ex-Ambassador to Mexico Attracts World League

SHADE GAP, Pa. — (By Associated Press) — Attacking Article 21 of the league of nations covenant as a betrayal rather than a safeguard of the Monroe Doctrine, Henry P. Fletcher, former ambassador to Mexico in an address Saturday at a reunion here of former residents of Huntington-on, declared that the Democratic party, thru its endorsement of the league covenant, was seeking to set up "a vain, visionary and vanishing scheme of world reign and interference based on arbitrary disposition of the lands and peoples of the earth."

The treaty of Versailles, as signed by the president, submitted to the senate and endorsed by the Democratic national convention, the former ambassador asserted, "absolutely and completely destroys the great chart and charter of peace with freedom, which we venerate under the name of the Monroe Doctrine."

Including the spirit of the Monroe Doctrine to be a safe guide in the conduct of the nation's international affairs, Mr. Fletcher added:

"The Monroe Doctrine forbids American participation in the political affairs of Europe. The treaty requires it."

"The Monroe Doctrine forbids outside interference in American affairs. The covenant provides for it."

"Article 21 of the treaty of Versailles," Mr. Fletcher continued, "is the famous article of the covenant which we were told would safeguard and protect the Monroe Doctrine. There are two versions of the treaty, one French and the other in English. Both are authentic. Apparently the French text of this article was prepared for European and the English text for home consumption."

GREAT BRITAIN TO SPEND
$600,000,000 ON WAR
VETERANS IN 1920-21

WASHINGTON — Great Britain is planning to spend nearly $600,000,000 on veterans of the world war during the fiscal year 1920-21, according to a memorandum of expenditures submitted to parliament, received today at the department of commerce.

For war pensions the memorandum calls for the expenditure of over $450,000,000 the largest item on the list. More than 33,000,000 is to go for "out of work donations." For training and education about $65,000,000 is to be appropriated. Nearly $15,000,000 is estimated as the sum necessary for resettlement work and about $2,000,000 for overseas settlement.

Several Army Divisions May be Rushed Into Poland

PARIS — (By Associated Press) — Premier Millerand will leave at 7:30 o'clock Saturday night for Hythe, England, where he will confer with Premier Lloyd-George relative to the Polish situation. Newspapers here declare Marshal Foch will be present at the premier's conference.

Military aid for Poland, consisting of one or two divisions each from France, Great Britain, Hungary, Rumania, Latvia and possibly other nations, is one of the emergency measures to be discussed by the two premiers.

This plan, as well as other measures, has been recommended by the French and British missions at Warsaw. It has been pointed out that Hungary particularly, can send good cavalry into the field. All these divisions, it is understood, will be fully equipped and it has been proposed that these reinforcements take the field before Warsaw to defend the capital of Poland.

FRONT LINE SHIFTED

French official circles, according to the foreign office, consider the front line now shifted from Poland to Berlin, in view of the speech of Dr. Sinow, the German foreign minister, in the reichstag on Thursday. It is believed in French quarters, it was stated, that Germany is undertaking the reconstruction of German industries, such as the railroads, under an agreement with the Soviet government, but it was not thought that any treaty existed going beyond such co-operation.

The French military experts in Warsaw reported the military situation unchanged.

The Polish delegates empowered to negotiate peace were expected to reach Minsk Saturday night, it was stated.

GERMANS PLAN ACTION

PARIS — (By Associated Press) — Dr. Goepfert, head of the German peace commission, delivered to the French foreign office Thursday a note relative to the organization of a special German military force in East Prussia. The Berlin government, according to Saturday morning's newspapers, announced the armed groups will be formed in that province out of fear of the Bolsheviks, and that "in the interests of public order," the government is obliged to take a hand in the organization of this militia.

Editorial opinion here professes to see in this note an attempt by Germany to take advantage of the situation to violate the Versailles treaty.

POLAND ASKS TRUCE

WARSAW — (By Associated Press) — Essentials of the terms of peace Poland would agree to were set forth in the note sent by wireless to Moscow Thursday night, according to the Soviet proposal to send delegates to Minsk to negotiate simultaneously an armistice and peace.

The note declared that Poland was compelled, however, to demand formal guarantees that the Polish delegates would be permitted free and direct communication with the Polish government by wireless and courier. The government also said that because of the fact that the Soviets had previously refused to negotiate an armistice, hostilities should now cease on both sides from the moment of the beginning of the negotiations at Minsk.

The Poles the note stated, were ready to conclude peace on the principle of national rights, and would not accept any terms that would be an attack on her sovereign rights or interfere with her internal affairs and she asked an answer that would be the basis for future peace terms.

CINCINNATI — Albert J. Schowag, died of burns received in gasoline explosion at Refiners' Oil Company here Wednesday night.

FIGHTS APLENTY IN PRIMARY

Stage Set for Final Bouts in Vote Getting Tuesday

LINEUP IN COUNTY SCRAP

All Runners in Fine Fettle and Outcome a Puzzler

"They're off in a bunch! Remember, there's to be no betting after the gentlemen say they're off!"

You used to hear that sort of cry at the race track in the good old days of running races before a hard-hearted legislature put a quietus on the gentle pastime of taking somebody else's money on the result of a race, or somebody else getting yours. There had to be a "fall guy" in the game, you know.

The same thing can now be applied to politics. "Many are called and few are chosen" in the quest for nomination for office. But the certainty of this outcome doesn't lessen the number of candidates in the least. In fact, the criteria of seekers seems to grow from year to year. Likewise, and also, despite the fact that salaries of officials haven't been increasing in a manner commensurate with mounting costs of living, the usual crop of office seekers has been growing during the summer months.

Tuesday is the day for "letting out" the garden. Pa Voter has been viewing with alarm the tendency of the growth to choke the political garden and has planned to cut busy and thin out the patch. Like a bill of corn with too many stalks, seekers for single jobs are too numerous. Only one for each place can go into the "harvest" in November. The process of elimination is going to be very satisfactory. The candidates have to be satisfied with the results. At least, they should. Those who are not good losers and who do not make provisions for defeat while anticipating victory, hadn't ought to be in a political contest.

On the Democratic end of the county primary argument, doubtless the most uncertain contest is the leading for nominations for county commissioner. James C. Mackenzie of American-tp, now a member of the board, along with M. J. Crossley and Walter W. Craig, is seeking approval of the adherents of his party in a re-nomination, while J. L. Lueckebach of Bluffton and J. A. Miller of Spencer-ville, defeated for re-election two years ago by James L. Heath and Walter Craig, feel they ought to have another change for a second term. However, there is no hard and fast rule in this regard in old Allen and there are other candidates. S. G. Parks of Lima, M. L. Roeder of South who met defeat in the primary two years ago, David P. Diller of Richmond and C. C. Arnold of Jackson, are in the get-up-and-go crowd. That is keeping everybody well puzzled. A. J. Baber is seeking the nomination for the short term, to continue from the time the board of elections fills out a certificate after the election in November, until the first Monday in next September, when the place will be taken by one of the long term winners.

This condition came about by the death of James L. Heath, a member of the board, last November and the appointment of Minor C. Crossley to serve until the next regular election. In the Republican column, Walter W. Craig, who gained notice by his opposition to extend time, wanted to extend his "visit" in the commissioners' office for another two years, also he had the same office for one term and was retired for two years before being elected by his present term, while J. P. Yeakam of Shawnee and John W. Thompson of Marion, who haven't occupied a chair in the office of the commissioners, desire to try out the untried steering. In addition to these, A. J. Gray of Perry is after nomination for the short term and a long one, too. There are but three places to be filled, and somebody is going to be disappointed.

The candidacy of Fred C. Becker for the Democratic nomination for Common Pleas Judge has rolled up the waters in that department considerably, but Emmitt Everett and C. L. Fess are not at all dismayed as a result of a pronouncement made by The Becker Non-Partisan Judicial Committee, with James W. Halchik, Republican, as president, John J. Roby, Democrat, secretary and those with D. C. Henderson, W. H. Leeta, L. E. Ludwig, Calvin F. Selfridge, Democrats and H. O. Beasley Republican as the executive committee. This organization is out with a letter signed by 22 Democratic attorneys and 12 Republican attorneys of the county, in which Mr. Becker tendered their support for Common Pleas Judge. Friends of Messrs. Fess and Everett, are taking raps at the non-partisan committee, holding that the Democratic party doesn't need the aid of Republican leaders in the county in selecting a candidate for judge on the Democratic ticket. Messrs. Fess and Everett do not take the view that the non-partisan organization is a reflection on their ability to fulfill the duties of the high office of judge, but they do feel that it is a proceeding out of the ordinary and unnecessary.

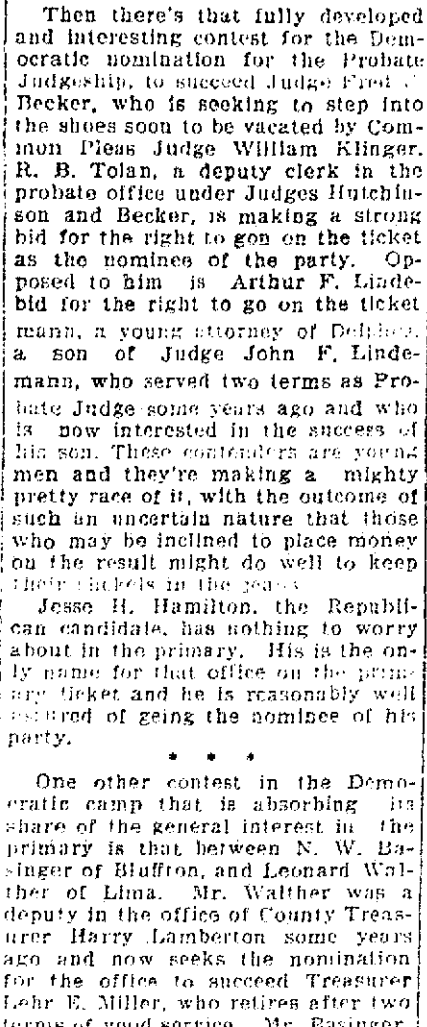

Then there's Edmund G. Demyster and Clement Olier, seekers for the Republican nomination, who are not saying much about the non-partisan notion, but they're probably doing a lot of thinking along the line of being entitled to the support of the aforesaid twelve Republican attorneys, whichever one of the two wins in the Tuesday primary.

With five on the Democratic ticket for nomination for Representative, a quintet of Andy Jackson's apparently are obsessed with belief that sitting in the lower house of the legislature is a thing much to be desired. H. H. Roush of Bath-tp started things moving for the county job that has its duties and pay car in Columbus. Robert A. Hefner of Jackson-tp, an ex-service man, in the army two years and who faced the enemy forces in France, is making a strong fight for the place. P. M. Driver, of Lima, a candidate for nomination for the same position some years ago, is again in the race, going lively. W. L. Lane and Frank Stockler are likewise eagerly anticipating the verdict of the voters of their party on Tuesday.

In the meantime, having drawn a salary for one term of two years, Representative Jasper Cochran is sitting

CHEESE INDUSTRY MENACED

Ohio Manufacturers Fear Reports of Great Milk Demand

NEW PHILADELPHIA, Ohio.—There are several small towns in Tuscarawas county whose inhabitants are alarmed at recent reports that the Swiss cheese industry in Ohio is menaced by the great demand for milk in the large cities. A decline in the price of cheese is another factor which is viewed with concern by the cheese makers.

More than fifty cheese factories are located in this county and approximately 2,000,000 pounds of cheese are produced annually.

Each morning and evening, farmers for miles around drive to the wayside cheese house, where they sell their milk.

The milk and ingredients for making the cheese are carefully weighed and poured into shiny copper kettles, beneath which burns a big log fire.

When the mass has been cooked sufficiently, it is taken from the kettles and placed in moulds, the shape of the cheese of commerce.

It sounds simple and easy, but there is a great difference in cheese—and cheese-makers, also in the price they get for their product. A maker of the best cheese is soon known to the buyers, and he commands a far better price than the manufacturer who makes fair or good cheese.

It takes six months after a cheese is made to cure it for the market. Great stores of the product are always on hand at the factories, going thru the curing process, and as each cheese becomes "good," it is shipped to the market.

A great many of the thrifty farmers and their wives in this district, make cheese for their own consumption.

The cheese-makers are very proud of their industry, and many of them point with pride to a long ancestral line—all of whom were cheese-makers, handing the business down from father to son for generations.

It is not the fact that there is more milk produced here or the fact that other materials are easier to obtain that makes this district the cheese manufacturing center of Ohio, which is said to stand second in the list of states making cheese.

It is a matter of nationality. This district is thickly settled with farmers of German and Swiss-German ancestry. Emigrants from Switzerland and the lowlands of Germany, came to this country many years ago and sought homes in the Tuscarawas valley, or in the hills a few miles away.

Five thousand and five hundred acres of land were taken up by the emigrants. While some of the settlers became farmers, others hunters and some tradesmen, still others took up the profession of making cheese.

The people keep much to themselves, and in all the years they have been in this country, they still retain many of the old customs of their native land. In some communities, the German and Swiss languages are spoken exclusively.

JAP IS MILLIONAIRE FOR TWO WHOLE MONTHS

TOKYO.—The giddy fluctuations of the Japanese business world have reached their climax with the new quote of the last few weeks, after many strange incidents, but probably none is more picturesque than that of one Kakuhara, a country storekeeper, who came to Tokyo with $500, the savings of many weary years behind the rural counter, and became a millionaire within a month and a pauper within another.

Kakuhara came to Tokyo during the latter part of last March to try his luck on the rice and produce exchange. He invested his modest pile in rice following the market as prices rose, and in April he was already in the millionaire class. He then formed a combination with a stock gambler, bulling the market with such success that his pile grew even larger. All he made he staked on rice, and then his luck failed him. He was caught and cleaned out, unable to pay the high margins which the slump called for.

He has now returned to his little country home where he is entertaining his old friends with the tale of how it feels to be a millionaire, even if it is only for two months.

HISTORIC ESTATE ON SALE: PRINCESS' COFFIN, AND ALL

LONDON.—Any American with surplus cash who wishes to add a historic estate, including a princess' coffin used as a watering trough, to his collection, has the offering of Baron Hill estate, Isle of Anglesey. It includes 5,000 acres and the town of Beaumaris.

A royal coffin of stone in the ground connects the estate with the tragedy in an English princess—Joan, daughter of King John, of England, and wife of Prince Llywelyn of North Wales.

At the siege of Montgomery, Llywelyn took prisoner a knight named William de Breos and lodged him in his own castle. Princess Joan fell in love with the captive, and when, after de Breos had been liberated by ransom, her husband discovered her unfaithfulness, he enticed de Breos back and killed him.

Joan died many years later. For 250 years her coffin was used as a watering trough for cattle until, in 1808, Lord Bulkeley removed it to Baron Hill.

WOULD-BE DOG HERO USES POOR JUDGMENT

BOSTON.—Obsessed with the belief that a number of small boys were drowning when they dove from a raft at Coulter's Beach, Dorchester, "Zip," a large, old dog, dragged after him by a rope, was so frightened by the boys that he was forced to discontinue barking. The dog, owned by the Dorchester Pottery Works, possessed the humane instinct to a high degree, but was slightly lacking in judgment.

WILHELM BARED MAD TRAITS

You Are in Presence of World Emperor, Told Butcher

There is a butcher in the main street of Spa who was walking through the woods on Sunday afternoon, 1918 and came suddenly upon a fleshy, elderly man in his shirt sleeves, with bare arms and a pick in his hand, who, in company with others similarly dressed and equipped, was occupied in turning a little stream from its course and making eagerness of a child making sand castles on the beach.

The butcher stared in surprise at these elderly mudlarks, for it never occurred to him that one of them was the German Emperor and two of the others were a famous general and Prince Metetrnich. Suddenly he was addressed with an imbecile affectation of dignity by one of the glibly diggers.

"Bonjour, monsieur. Take off your hat. You are in the presence of the Emperor of the World. And now," added the Kaiser, as the startled butcher sheepishly complied, "go and forget forever what you have seen."

As another hobby of his stay at Spa, when the German communiques were constantly assuring the troops that their Supreme War Lord was personally present at their battles, the Kaiser used to stuff his pockets with leaves or pebbles, which he would throw into the air as he walked.

He sent for a German woman friend to join him in Spa. Quarters were provided for her in the Villa Pompeia. She was tall, handsome, and between thirty and thirty-five years of age. "The Emperor's Sp" was the nick-name the townspeople gave her.

She would disappear whenever the Emperor came to visit her husband at Spa, but at other times the Kaiser would go out riding with her in the woods that surrounded the town. One of his orders was that all the branches overhanging the paths thru the woods should be looped so that he should not need to bow his head as he cantered along. And far and wide every day the forests around Spa were searched by secret service men to insure his safety.

The Allied aeroplanes never bombed German General Headquarters here, the great dread of the Kaiser's life was air raids. He had three villas reserved for himself at Spa, and was continuously changing from one to the other. At the Villa Neubois, where Marshal Foch and M. Millerand have been staying, the Kaiser's dog-out, with its steel strong-worm door, made to open a two-part in case a fall of earth jammed it, is the principal sight of the house. When the imperial nerves were very bad, the Kaiser lived in this train, which had an engine attached at each end, with steam always up.

OHIO LEGION MAY MEET IN LIMA

Local Delegates to State Session After Next Convention

The next state convention of the American Legion of Ohio may be held in Lima.

This announcement was made by Post Adjutant William H. Gallant, of Paul Gallagher Post No. 96 following a meeting at Memorial Hall Friday night, when delegates were selected to attend the convention at Youngstown August 23 and 24.

Gallant said a concentrated effort will be made to land the convention for Lima next year. Delegates chosen for the Youngstown convention are: Post Commander E. D. Sinks, Post Adjutant William H. Gallant, "Jimmy" Smith, M. Myers, Walter G. Gerstenkauer, R. R. Traby, T. H. Hunt, and Reid G. McCauley.

Two additional members were appointed to the investigating committee recently chosen to make investigations of the alleged action of the Lima chapter of commerce in opposing the soldiers' bonus bill in congress. The augmented committee was instructed to make a report at the next semi-monthly meeting.

NEGRO ASSAULT OF WOMEN IDENTIFIED

CHICAGO.—Leroy Green, a negro burglar held in county jail, was identified Friday by David L. Luke, West Virginia wood pulp and paper manufacturer, his wife and daughter, as the man who forced his way into the manufacturer's home at Tarrytown, N. Y., on July 17, locked him in his room, wounded his daughter, terrorized his wife and forced her to unlock the family safe containing $40,000 worth of jewels.

Green was arrested on July 20, when a pawn shop proprietor to whom he had sold a diamond became suspicious and called the police. Jewels worth $10,000 and $400 in currency were found in his pockets. A key to a bank safety deposit vault led to the discovery of the rest of the jewels.

PAYING GUEST AT THE WORKHOUSE

ST. IVES, HUNTINGDONSHIRE.—An elderly, well-to-do American is an inmate of the workhouse here as a paying guest. After an absence of 30 years he has returned to see his relatives.

The people keep much to themselves, and in all the years they have been in this country, they still retain many of the old customs of their native land. In some communities, the German and Swiss languages are spoken exclusively.

And so the workhouse guardians have taken him on trust and agreed to keep him for a month until he gets his money from the United States, when he has promised to redeem his rent and board bill for the time he has spent in the workhouse, at about $4 a week.

WAPAKONETA.—Paul Stout, 16 Faulder, J. C. Whetstone and D. A. Chiesa were elected as delegates to the American Legion State Convention in Youngstown, August 22, 23, and 24, by Augusta Post here. Delegates have been instructed to support a movement to have the government eliminate red tape when dealing with disabled soldiers.

CHILDREN CRY FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

What is Castoria

CASTORIA is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Dropper and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep.

The Children's Panacea—The Mother's Friend.

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over 30 years, has borne the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher, and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-Good" are but Experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children. Experience against Experiment.

Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

CRAZED BY SNAKE BITE. HE IMITATES SERPENT

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y.—Five days after being bitten by a rattlesnake near Millford, George Swenson, nineteen years old, became violently insane and was taken to the Hudson River State Hospital, where he is under observation. They say suddenly threw himself thru the air, as a snake would strike, crashing from his chair to the floor, where he crawled on his stomach, imitating the motions of a snake and frothing at the mouth.

The boy, who had been in the Army Medical Corps and knew first aid treatment, made a rude attempt when he was bitten and cut the flesh from the wound with his penknife. He had hovered between life and death, but was thought to have been out of danger.

ICE DEALERS CHEATED: NOW THEY GIVE IT AWAY

MAIDEN, Mass.—An ancient punishment, reminiscent of the ancient Mosaic law, was inflicted on short weight ice dealers by Judge Riley, in the Maiden Court, when he ordered them to make their usual visits to two Medford residents and leave ice without charge for the term of one month.

At the same time he announced that anyone thereafter convicted of selling short weight ice, would be forced to deliver free ice to the victims for the balance of a season.

RUTH HOLDS CENTER OF STAGE IN BIG LEAGUE HITTING

CHICAGO.—The three leading batters in the American League fattened up their averages during the past week but "Babe" Ruth, the home run champion who is in fourth place, suffered a slump before Dick Kerr in the last game of the series between Chicago and New York. He was at bat five times but connected for only one hit.

Tris Speaker, the Cleveland manager who tops the batters gathered eleven hits in seven games and boosted his mark from .411 to .417, which is fifteen points better than that of George Sisler, the St. Louis star, who is the runner-up with an average of .402. Joe Jackson the slugging outfielder of the Chicago White Sox, is third with a mark of .393, while Ruth is hitting .391. The averages are of players who have participated in fifty or more contests and include games of Wednesday.

Ruth continues to be the sensation of the league. This was evidenced again in the series just played in Chicago between the Yankees and the White Sox. For the four days a crowd officially estimated at 126,000 came out to witness the games with a hope of seeing the big southpaw slugger crack the ball out of the field.

Only once during the series was Ruth able to "deliver" on his specialty. That was on the second day when he drove the ball on a line into the right field bleachers for four bases. Claude Williams was pitching and it was the third homer Ruth had collected at his expense. This smash marked Ruth's thirteenth home run. Against Faber the following day he was unable to hit, because the game was close and he was ordered passed. In the opening game with Cicotte on the mound Ruth was helpless.

He counted his 39th at Detroit of Emke in the opener of the series and passed the 40 mark on the next day, getting two and making his new record 41.

Rice of Washington is far out in front among the base stealers, showing the way with a total of 43 thefts.

Other leading batters: Rice, Washington, .366; E. Collins, Chicago, .364; Meusel, New York, .354; Weaver, Chicago, .341; Hendryx, Boston, .337; Felsch, Chicago, .332; Judge, Washington, .332; Jamieson, Cleveland, .332; Jacobson, St. Louis, .331; Milan, Washington, .326; Cobb, Detroit, .322.

HORNSBY STILL LEADS NATIONAL

Roger Hornsby of St. Louis continues to head the National League batters who have played in 50 or more games. The St. Louis star knocked out 13 hits in his last six games and boosted his average to .372. J. Smith, a teammate who was the runner-up among the regulars last week, went into a slump and dropped to fifth place with an average of .326, while Nicholson of Pittsburgh came along strong and now is runner-up to Hornsby with an average of .336. Roush of Cincinnati was pulled up into third place with a mark of .333 and Young of New York is holding fourth place with .327.

Hornsby is far in front in total bases with 220, acquired on 143 hits, which include thirty doubles. Ben Tincup, the Indian with Louisville, took a bad tumble from his position among the batters of the American Association. From being runner-up to Grover Hartley, of Columbus, last week, the Indian has dropped to eighth place. Hartley also went into a slump. He cracked out only one hit in his last five games and lost 15 points off his averages. However he still tops the list with a mark of .357. Wilbur Good of Kansas City had a good week with the willow and although he lost a few points from his mark of last week, his batting was superior to the other leaders, and as a result Good went into second place with an average of .340. The averages are of players who played in 50 or more games.

Bunny Brief of Kansas City cracked out three homers in the past week and broke the tie for circuit drive honors shared last week with Hargrave of St. Paul. Brief has bagged sixteen. Hargrave managed to get one and has fourteen.

Rapp of St. Paul is pulling away from Drensen, his teammate in the base-stealing department. Rapp is showing the way with 24 thefts, which his rival has pilfered 29.

Other leading batters: Wickland, Toledo, .338; Rouds, Minneapolis, .333; W. Alder, Kansas City, .329; Rapp, St. Paul, .327; Butler, Milwaukee, .327; Tincup, Louisville, .323; Wade, Minneapolis, .322; Berghammer, St. Paul, .318.

BILLY MISKE IN CONDITION, REPORT

ST. PAUL, Minn.—Billy Miske, the St. Paul heavy-weight boxer, is reported rapidly rounding into top condition for his ten-round bout with Jack Dempsey at Benton Harbor, Mich., on Labor Day.

It will be the third time Miske has mixed with the champion, but the two previous meetings were in the latter's ante-championship days. In a contest in St. Paul, Dempsey got the newspaper verdict, while a later meeting in Philadelphia resulted in a popular decision for Miske.

Miske kept Miske out of the game for more than a year, but now he declares himself fully recovered and ready for a "come-back." Recently he knocked out Jack Moran in short order, and fight critics declared his form as good as ever.

Miske is a legitimate heavy-weight, weighing close to 170 pounds, which is more than he weighed when illness forced his temporary retirement.

SEYMOUR AND GREENLAND WIN ON FOURTH DAY OF CITY TENNIS TOURNAMENT

BY BILL CUNNINGHAM

The fourth day of the city tennis tournament being held under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. was featured by the steady, careful playing of all contestants.

"Bud" Greenland playing against Joe Gooding looks like a probable contender for the finals. His fast steady serve, was a puzzle to Gooding for the first three games. Greenland winning all of them. Gooding then began to play carefully and lost the next three.

The first game of doubles in the tournament which was to have been played between Leo Rima and G. S. Lounsbury and Ned Seymour and Ed and Charlie Cook and Louis Cleverly.

The games Saturday are: E. J. Seymour and W. S. Cunningham, 6-4, 6-3, 6-4; Leo Rima and G. S. Lounsbury, 6-4, 6-3, 6-4; Ned Seymour and Ed and Charlie Cook and Louis Cleverly, 6-4, 6-3, 6-4.

The match attracting the most attention of the evening was the singles between Ned Seymour and Ray Umstead. The games of the first set were close each winning on their serve until the score was "three all."

The next set was easy for Greenland, winning it, 6-1.

THE LIMA NEWS

AND TIMES-DEMOCRAT
PUBLISHED EVERY DAY IN THE NEWS BUILDING, 121 E. HIGH STREET
BY THE NEWS PUBLISHING COMPANY

Entered at postoffice at Lima as sec-

THE AGE OF NEW THINGS.

THE mail is to be carried through the air, by fast-going planes, and the news from home will come before the mucilage is dry on the envelope. Right of way men are mapping out the routes, landing places are being selected, and the world will witness a revolution in quick transportation facilities. Trial trips of planes have frightened the farm animals, driven the barnyard fowls to their coops and brought forth protests from their owners.

Solomon was pretty well convinced that there could not be anything new under the sun. He assured his subjects that so far as he could see, by the aid of prophetic glasses, there was nothing new. The Indians of North America believed in a limited world. Chief Moses of the Northwest told his people that there was no country, or people, east of the Rocky Mountains.

Inventions are announced with rapidity that almost takes the breath away. Scientists are finding new sources of food; inventors are discovering new modes of travel and machines for saving labor. Necessity is finding new ways of doing almost everything. The man of yesterday is a stranger in the land of today. The man of tomorrow will look back on the men of yesterday and wonder how they lived. This is the age of new things.

JAPANESE LAND HOLDING

A vague apprehension is in the minds of American people living east of the Rocky mountains, lest the agitation in California against Japanese ownership of land in this country should lead to international complications. This is, of course, inspired by the vigorous protests of the Japanese against legislation now pending. It is probable, however, that the Japanese people themselves do not take their protestations too seriously. They have an elemental sense of justice, as well as a saving sense of humor, which must show them the anomaly of their position, for they are demanding of other nations rights as aliens which they themselves do not concede to foreigners in their own country.

The only enduring basis of diplomatic negotiations is just mutual concession. There must be a willingness to give as well as take. Before Japan can expect to be taken seriously in its outcry against restrictions of Japanese land ownership in California or elsewhere in this country, she must extend to Americans the right to own land in Japan. She must enter any negotiations with reference to the status of her people in this country with clean hands, otherwise her protests must be regarded as mere purliance.

PROBABLY Mexico was better off trying to get its hands on Villa than with Villa on its hands.

THE OLD STORY TELLER.

THERE was a little advertisement, printed in one of our exchanges, that stopped the blue pencil from marking and the long shears from clipping for a few moments because it set the mind a-wondering. It merely stated that the school board desired the services of a good story teller. Of course that did not mean that the school required a man or woman to make up lies and set them to music. It meant what it said, and that was the cause of the thinking.

The old story teller of the neighborhood was one of the characters of bygone days whose name will never be forgotten. He could hold an audience of boys and girls until the fires went out and the old clock tolled twelve times and began again the round of another day. Those stories never grew old, although related many times. There was something strangely charming about the weird and fanciful tales of witches and hobgoblins that closed the doors on sleep.

What boy was there among us who did not appreciate the stories of hunting wild animals and capturing savage Indians? Then what about the narrow escapes of first settlers from armed bandits, witches and ghosts that questioned their right of citizenship? Those things and a thousand others equally as thrilling, rush to mind as the memory spots are brushed and brightened, and we long for the days of the story teller.

Yes, they have story tellers in the public schools to interest the little tots, and they succeed as well as in the past.

THE CALL TO THE LAND

THE department of agriculture says the danger of a food shortage in the United States is practically over because of good crops and better facilities for distribution. Such reports create confidence and induce more general stability. There is an indication of contentment and restfulness that promises wiser and more careful consideration of public questions.

But while conditions are changing and better days are in prospect, it is well for the people generally to give more thought to the call of the land. There must be more building on the farm and less loafing in the city. The future of the nation demands a more stable and dependable agriculture. This cannot be expected until the farm is made more enticing and tilling the soil becomes more alluring financially.

The call to the land is something that meets with the approval of many men and women who trace their ancestry back to the old farm.

WELTY IS FOR OBSERVANCE OF THE LAW

Allen-Co Congressional Candidate Believes People Should Have Right to Petition
Congress

Congressman Welty is just old fashioned enough to believe that the Government cannot law unless its officers observe the law.
After the declaration of war he received a petition from consensual objectors asking that they be exempt. Mr. Welty hesitated to refer this petition to the proper committee because it was so repulsive to his very nature.
Mr. Welty began his military training at Ada shortly after he went to school when 17 years old, and when the Spanish American war came on he resigned as City Solicitor of Bluffton, left his office and became a private in Company C. He continued his training after the war by spending his summer vacations under the tent, and by hard work rose to the rank of Lieutenant Colonel and Chief Commissary of Ohio.

When the world war broke out he was the first to ask Governor Cox for an assignment in duty but was refused because he was a member of Congress, and he was likewise turned down by Secretary of War Baker and President Wilson.
However, Ben Welty was the only member of his family possessing the military spirit. During the Spanish American war two of his brothers also volunteered; his youngest brother ran away from school;
while the world war found ten of his nephews in the ranks. One received a shell wound in his lung at Belleu
Wood where the Marines distinguished themselves and is left an invalid because one of his lungs is gone and the other afflicted by gas. Another of his nephews was killed the day before the armistice.
All but three of these nephews were across and in the trenches and he feels mighty proud to be an uncle of these brave lads.

But coming back to the petition of those conscientious objectors is what concerned Mr. Welty most because he could not understand how any man with red blood could see the other fellow sacrifice his blood for home and country. His first impulse upon receiving this petition was to throw it in the waste basket, but he remembered that the Constitution, which he swore with uplifted hands to uphold, gave the right of the people to petition Congress and in order to comply with the Constitution, he had the same referred to the military committee.

But when it came to voting he could do as he thought right and voted for war and the draft, taking these boys who wanted to hide behind their mother's apron by the nape of the neck and placing them in the army where each belonged when the safety of the home and the Nation is threatened.

There are some who objected to the reference of this petition but this can be attributed only to those who have no regard for the laws and the Constitution of the land.

AS YOU LIKE IT

A LITTLE SLICE OF LIFE
We have been wondering
How Governor Coolidge is going
To conduct a front-porch campaign.
You see, he lives in a double house
And somebody lives in the other side
And there are two front porches.
We don't know whether the man
Who lives in the other side
Is a Republican or a Democrat.
Perhaps he is one of those Old-fashioned men who likes
To sit on his front porch
In his stocking feet these Warm afternoons and evenings
And let his soul commune
With Nature and all that.
Maybe he might want to have
An ice cream social or something
When Cal was having a celebration
On the other front porch.
People who live in double houses
Shouldn't throw slurs,
But most of them, we have found,
Do that very thing.
We can only hope that Cal's
Neighbor is a kindly soul who
Will hold his social functions
On the back porch while Cal
Is holding forth in front.
It really is one of the Political problems of the year.

Europe should make up her mind that the United States cannot keep her in the style to which she was accustomed before the war.

Not wishing his neighbors any bad luck at all, a western candidate advertises: "I would like to be your corner."

John F. Maher

of GREENVILLE, OHIO
DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE for
Member of Congress
FOURTH OHIO DISTRICT
Subject to the Decision of the Primaries, August 10th, 1920.

STATEMENT
The campaign is coming to a close, and it is my desire to frankly state my position regarding Labor Legislation:
By birth and experience, my sympathies are naturally with those who labor. I will vote and work for all federal legislation for the betterment of labor. I stand for an equal opportunity and a square deal. This has been my position from the commencement of the campaign.
I favor the enactment of a statute granting to the discharged soldier a bonus sufficient to compensate him in a way for the sacrifices he has made. The tax for the payment of this bonus should apply to those individuals and organizations reaping unusual and great profits during, and since the war.

LIMA NEEDS BOND Half Soles ISSUE TO BUILD RIVER WALLS Save Tires

Every Man Who is for a Better City Will Vote for the River Bonds on Tuesday

The Lima Chamber of Commerce, always on the alert for an opportunity to advance the interests of this rapidly growing and important city, has undertaken the commendable task of conducting a campaign of education among the voters of the city on the necessity of the success of a proposal to issue and sell bonds of the city for the purpose of erecting a retaining wall along the river in its course thru city, to protect property from encroachment of flood waters, the banks being washed away and proving a menace to property.

This proposition has been before the voters on other occasions, but failed, by very reason of the fact that there was not a general understanding of the necessity of such an improvement, for the enrichment of the scenic beauty of the city as well as a fair deal to those property owners whose holdings were placed in future jeopardy when the river channel was dredged and widened some years ago.

The Chamber of Commerce has undertaken the laudable task of conveying to the people of Lima, previous to the primary election on August 10, the full facts in the premises, to the end that the necessary majority in favor of the bond issue may be had, so that the city can redeem its implied promise to the people whose property holdings were encroached upon when the river was deepened and widened and flood danger lessened.

President Bayly and the Committee on Committees of the Chamber of Commerce have created a special committee for the purpose of promoting the river retaining wall bond issue, in accordance with the terms of an ordinance passed in due form by council.
Lima people not conversant with the facts in this case should inform themselves. If, for any reason, anyone is opposed to the issue, they should retain open minds and submit themselves to the consideration of arguments in favor of the bonds.

Worn Out Tires Get a Renewed
Life at More Mileage
Tire Co.

"There's many an automobile tire that is being thrown away that would still be good for from five to ten thousand miles," says L. D. Van Rensselaer of the More Mileage Tire
Co. at 126 East High Street

"It's a shame these days to waste tires—to throw them away or sell them to the junk man for a few cents just because they are tread worn or rut worn.

"Do you know that hundreds of the biggest business houses and over 1,000,000 motorists in the United States are getting tire mileage for only about one-half what it cost them two years ago?

"They are doing it by getting 10, 000 to 15,000 miles out of the same kind of tires that they formerly threw away after they had run only 5000 or 6000 miles and you can do the same thing.

"The Gates Half-Sole Tire has made this possible—it has revolutionized the tire business—and in these days of high costs and heavy expenses it is being grasped by business men everywhere

"We can say to you with absolute confidence that the Gates Half-Sole Tire will give you more miles and better satisfaction than you have ever had before.

"You have always wanted a puncture-proof tire and now you can have it and it's guaranteed punctureproof

And still, these tires cost you only one-half as much as other tires of corresponding size"

WILSON BENT ON SAVING POLES

May Call Congress to Take Action Against Russia.

ALLIES TO CONFER TODAY

British and French Marshals Plan to Strike Soviets.

WASHINGTON.—President Wilson within a few days may take some action in the crisis facing Poland from the offensive of soviet Russia, the United Press was informed Saturday night on high authority.

Poland, now menaced by hunger, the government at Warsaw has sent confidential instructions to Prince Casimir Luborski, Polish minister here, to make a formal request to the United States for food supplies for Poland, it was learned Saturday night.

These were the most important steps in the Russo-Polish situation. While state department officials continued to maintain the strictest secrecy concerning negotiations and deliberations, indications Saturday night that a definite program soon will be formulated by the allies and the United States.

WILSON DETERMINED

President Wilson is understood to be determined that Poland, whose independence he was largely responsible for, shall not be crushed if it is possible to prevent. Polish independence was, one of Wilson's 14 points at Versailles. The president, Secretary of State Colby and Under-Secretary Davis are thought now to have decided tentatively on some plan to give United States aid in relieving Poland's plight.

The president and state department officials are in close and constant touch on the problem, which is being considered from every angle. Food has now become one of the greatest needs of Poland, it was explained Saturday at the Polish legation here, and famine is constituting one of the worst menaces to the country.

The fear that lack of food for the refugees will cause a plague of typhus and that the country will be thrown into chaos by the danger within was expressed Saturday night by Polish diplomats.

POSSIBLE U. S. COURSE

Making available food supplies is the most effective means of assistance which the United States can render Poland, according to the view of legation officials. They said sending of troops or war materials by this country now would not be wise, because of the need for great haste in any action.

Possible action by President Wilson was forecast Saturday night as follows:

Calling of a special session of congress to authorize sweeping action, such as use of American troops or extension of loans to Poland, convening of the first meeting of the league of nations to take up the Polish crisis. The statements of moral support for Poland; extension of credit to the Polish government to buy surplus army food, or war materials granted by congress by selling any surplus on credit to the best advantage.

Neither the state department nor the Polish legation here Saturday night had received a "special note" which, according to a Warsaw dispatch Saturday, has been sent to the United States by the Polish government.

ALLIES MEET TODAY

LONDON.—The British foreign office Saturday night believed it is a "mediate menace of war with Russia" had been removed. Nevertheless, Marshal Foch of France and Field Marshal Wilson of Britain were drawing up a plan of campaign against Russia which would be admitted to Premiers Millerand and Lloyd George at their conference Sunday at Hythe.

CONCESSIONS ENDED

It was considered extremely improbable that Lenin would reject the interpretation placed upon his note by Kamenoff and Lloyd George in a six-hour conference, which was "that the soviets will make a just peace with Poland, subject to ratification of the proposed London conference to be held later.

"SQUEAL" IS REFUSED, BABY NOT FOUND

Whereabouts of Blakely Coughlin Remains Mystery as "Crank" Pasquale Declines to Keep Promise—His Story to Authorities Is Vague

PHILADELPHIA.—Authorities here Saturday night were no nearer to a solution of the mysterious whereabouts of Blakely Coughlin, kidnapped Norristown baby, than a week ago. Four o'clock passed Saturday without Augusto Pasquale, "The Crank" and believed by authorities to be the kidnapper, revealing anything of material value to them.

Bearing up well under a system of relentless questioning, Pasquale did not "squeal" as he promised to do if the child was not returned by 4 o'clock Saturday to its parents in Norristown, who are anxiously awaiting word of their baby.

What he has told, police said Saturday night, was entirely too vague and left much to conjecture. He admitted, they said, that a Russian Pole did the kidnapping, but further than that Pasquale would not go. He met this man, Pasquale is reported to have claimed, on June 1, and a job, which the prisoner ascribed was other than a kidnapping one, was planned. Later, he found "other work" to do, lost track of the fellow and failed to see him until the next day, he told his questioners.

The Russian Pole then admitted to Pasquale, according to the story Pasquale told the authorities, that while he obtained no money, he had a millionaire's baby in his possession.

151 CONVICTED OF PROFITEERING

Resume of Campaign Against H. C. L. Given Out By Palmer.

WASHINGTON.—One hundred and fifty-one profiteers have been convicted since the justice department started its nation-wide campaign to reduce living costs, it was announced Saturday at the office of Attorney General Palmer.

The justice department began its campaign one year ago. Arrests on profiteering charges totalled 1,501, of which 1,109 were indicted by a grand jury.

Justice department agents will renew their efforts to increase the number of convictions, it was said, and to bring a quick decision in all cases where indictments have been obtained.

HARDING SILENT ON COX SPEECH

His Paper Publishes Sarcastic Editorial, However.

MARION.—Senator Warren G. Harding was silent Saturday night regarding the speech of acceptance of Governor Cox but his newspaper, the Marion Star, carried an editorial declaring the speech is not the dignified utterance expected of a presidential candidate.

The reference by Governor Cox to his speech by "conspirators" and "political intrigues" are "surprising," the editorial said. Cox's league of nations stand "conforms to the terms of his agreement with the White House," the editorial continued.

The declaration by Cox that he takes up the fight unfettered by promises brought a sarcastic comment. "It is that Sunday morning conference in Washington so soon been forgotten?" it asked. "Have the terms of the promises made to Mr. Wilson and proclaimed by the governor to the world, been broken?" The editorial appeared in the paper unsigned.

There was every indication here Saturday that Harding will enter into a final fight with Cox over the "league of nations." From the time he was nominated, Harding has repeatedly declared his willingness to wage the campaign with this as the major issue and the speech by Cox Saturday left little doubt here that the battle will center around the league.

Harding played golf at Mansfield, Ohio, near here, Saturday afternoon with Senator Townsend of Michigan.

SAYS EVERYBODY IS AFRAID TO BOOST THE LEAGUE

LULL, England.—Up to the present practical support of the League of Nations has been tepid and no one cares to take any responsibility with regard to it," Walter Runciman, London banker and cabinet minister under Asquith, declared in a speech here.

"The Supreme Council is usurping its functions, and in this respect England's hands are not altogether clean. We must get rid of the old diplomacy and in its place apply Christian principles to international relations."

Pasquale did not "squeal" as he promised to do if the child was not returned by 4 o'clock Saturday to its parents in Norristown, who are anxiously awaiting word of their baby.

What he has told, police said Saturday night, was entirely too vague and left much to conjecture. He admitted, they said, that a Russian Pole did the kidnapping, but further than that Pasquale would not go. He met this man, Pasquale is reported to have claimed, on June 1, and a job, which the prisoner ascribed was other than a kidnapping one, was planned. Later, he found "other work" to do, lost track of the fellow and failed to see him until the next day, he told his questioners.

The Russian Pole then admitted to Pasquale, according to the story Pasquale told the authorities, that while he obtained no money, he had a millionaire's baby in his possession.

PRISONER'S LAWYER TALKS

Director Cortelyou, of the public safety department, personally took charge of the kidnapping case Saturday night. Benjamin Goodman, an attorney here, announced he was counsel for Pasquale, and would prove that the man was merely a fool, because of his knowledge of reading and writing, to higher interests, who wanted the Coughlin baby, he said, for ransom, revenge due to personal enmity against the Coughlins, and finally to satisfy a mother's love. Goodman had previously served Pasquale in the same capacity about a year ago when on trial for alleged robbery.

THREE KIDNAPING

"The authorities are now certain that there were at least three in the kidnapping. During his examination Pasquale, while off his guard, frequently mentioned 'we.' They believe that the prisoner worked with his pals, another man and a woman, they say, until the final demand for $10,000 ransom was made. The man, then in his greed for money, played a lone hand which finally led to his capture at Egg Harbor Monday afternoon.

800 TROOPERS ON RIOT DUTY

Patrol West Frankfort Street Following Race Clash.

WEST FRANKFORT, Ill.—Eight hundred state troops continued to patrol the streets here Saturday night, altho the authorities announced they anticipated no resumption of the two days of race rioting.

Scores of Italians who fled from the town when their colony was attacked by a mob of foreign-born American miners, were still absent and it was believed they would make no attempt to return.

Individual fighting occurred Saturday between miners and Italians who remained here. In one of these an Italian was killed by a blow, probably by an axe. This was the first death resulting from the rioting.

The exact whereabouts of the three men believed to be implicated in the murder of Tony Hemphill, 20, and Amel Calacerra, 14, was unknown Saturday night, tho they were believed to be held somewhere in southern Illinois.

Failure of a crowd in its attempt to lynch them here Thursday night, started the riot.

COAL CRIES CEASE

Shortage in Ohio Believed, Inspector Smith Reports.

COLUMBUS.—Complaints from farmers and public utilities in the state on shortage of coal have practically ceased, Chief Inspector Smith of the public utilities commission said Saturday.

The apparent relief to utilities is due, according to Smith, to an order of the interstate commerce commission July 23, requiring that coal cars must be returned to the mines immediately after being unloaded. A few operators, Smith said, have been warning in saying they have coal for public utility use.

DENVER HELD BY MARTIAL LAW

U. S. Troops Bring Relief to Terrorized City.

DEATH LIST NOW SIX

Armistice Agreed to By Striking Street Car Men.

DENVER, COLO.—For the first time since Tuesday evening, this city, Saturday night experienced a sense of relief from the strain and fear that has frazzled the nerves of residents of Denver following two nights of fatal rioting that has resulted in six killed and 45 wounded, many seriously, attendant with the street car tie-up.

An armistice was agreed upon Saturday by striking tramway employees. They voted to call off the strike on these conditions:

Every strike-breaker must be removed from his job and no other strike-breakers brought in; tramway union men must be given a working agreement and they must be taken back in a body, not individually.

The conference with tramway officials Saturday was to decide whether the company would agree to the terms.

STARTED LAST SUNDAY

The climax of the long-standing difference came last Sunday when the 1,100 members of the Tramway Union voted unanimously to walk out. The meeting was held at 1 o'clock Sunday morning. One car manned by strike-breakers was operated Wednesday.

Thursday evening a mob of 2,000 union sympathizers marched to a local newspaper office, which had been antagonistic to the present strike. Here they staged a wild demonstration.

THURSDAY'S EVENTS

Some one shouted: "Get the scabs!" Another threw a lemon against a window in the newspaper plant. With a roar, the 2,000 surged down the street. The mob began its work. Street cars were overturned, the unfriendly newspaper was partially wrecked. Strike-breakers who manned the captured cars were unmercifully beaten. Police, who had been ordered not to use revolvers, were helpless. The mob divided into three parts. Attacks were made in various parts of the city. Thousands of on-lookers followed.

Late that night one mob attempted to fire a car barn where strike-breakers were quartered. There was an exchange of shots. Two of the rioters were dead and a score wounded. Friday morning's casualty list showed two dead and 34 injured.

CITIZENS VOLUNTEER

Two thousand citizens volunteered to serve as extra police. They were accepted and armed. Former soldiers manned machine guns mounted on motor trucks. Persons were warned to stay at home Friday night. After a day of quiet, a crowd gathered at a car barn to see at the strike-breakers. Women, young girls and boys were numerous. They wanted to see what was going on. An automobile load of strike-breakers drove thru the crowd. There was a shot. A volley of shots followed. Women, panic-stricken, fled. The crowd scattered. But four more were dead and 11 wounded including three girls.

An appeal was made for United States troops as state and city officials realized there had been too much bloodshed and feared they could not prevent further rioting.

Saturday night Denver is under martial law, with regular army troops in charge of the situation. And Denver feels relieved after the nightmare of murder and believes normal conditions will be restored within a few hours.

SOFT DRINK LABORATORY BURNS; LOSS $200,000

ALLIANCE, O.—A loss of $200,000 was occasioned at Deerfield, ten miles north of Alliance, when the soft drink laboratory of the Deerfield Mineral Springs Company burned to the ground early Saturday morning.

The Alliance fire department was called to help fight the flames and prevent them from spreading to adjoining property. The plant burned is owned by the Sandusky Beverage Company. The origin of the fire is a mystery.

FAIL TO FIND BURGLAR

A thorough search of the Banta candy factory by police early Sunday morning following an alarm turned up by Policeman Blair, on whose beat the factory is located, failed to reveal any intruders.

KILLED HUSBAND; ONLY WANTED TO "SPOIL HIS LOOKS"

Mrs. Alexandra Sokolowky and her daughter, Adona.

Mrs. Alexandra Sokolowky of New York poured carfolic acid over the face of her husband, Frank, when he was sleeping "to spoil his good looks," so he would not attract prettier women. Her husband, an organizer for the American Federation of Labor, died as a result.

OHIO CANDIDATES ALL "WIN"

Each Man in G. O. P. Race for Governor Claims Victory.

COLUMBUS.—Candidates for the Republican nomination for governor, came up the "home stretch" of the primary race Saturday with optimistic declarations, showing how and why each one will be hailed as the G. O. P. nominee after the ballots are counted Tuesday.

Back attending the Cuyahoga-county Republican outing at Luna Park, Cleveland, "nominated himself" and proceeded to open up his campaign for election over State Auditor loganay in November.

Cole's camp "nominated Cole" with just as much enthusiasm.

"He'll run off with the rural sections, holding his own in the big cities and carry at least three-fourths of the counties," they explained. Cole spent Saturday campaigning in the 2nd congressional district.

McCulloch's supporters figure he will pile up an enormous lead in his home district, the 16th, and will hold his own in the rest of the state.

The best the wisest deponents could do Saturday night was to guess that it will be a pretty good "hoss race" to the finish, all extravagant claims of the rival camps notwithstanding.

All of the trio of gubernatorial candidate will spend the last day of the campaign, Monday, in their home communities. McCulloch is remaining close to Canton and Davis sticking to Cleveland, while Cole tours the old eighth district, which he represented for six years.

BANK MEN SEIZED

Two Tellers at Niles, O., Charged With Embezzlement.

NILES, O.—Charles I. Nichols and Karl R. Welsh, former tellers in the Dollar Savings bank here, are under arrest charged by state banking officials with embezzlement, misapplication of funds and making false entries.

A shortage of $75,000 has been discovered, the officials said.

The two were dismissed from the bank after a shortage was discovered by State Examiner Clyde Sharpe in an examination July 12. State officials declare the suspects used bank funds for speculation in real estate and stocks.

The shortage will not affect the solvency of the bank which has resources of nearly $2,500,000.

MAYOR FOR 33 YEARS SEEKS HONOR AGAIN

NATCHEZ, Miss.—W. G. Benbrook, 83 years old, seems to thrive on politics. After rounding out thirty-three years as Mayor of Natchez, Mayor Benbrook has formally announced his candidacy for reelection in the Municipal primaries which will be held August 24. He is unopposed.

PLAYS HARDING IN HIS ACCEPTANCE

Great Throng Cheers as Governor Denounces Marion Nominee's Peace Plan—Address Is Heard by 60,000 People at the Dayton Fair Grounds

Party's Leader Heads Parade of 20,000 Shouting Democrats Preceding Notification—Delegation from Marion-co Receives Noisy Demonstration

DAYTON.—Governor James M. Cox Saturday night stands out as the new leader of the nation's Democracy, having formally accepted the presidential nomination of his party here Saturday with a militant speech full of direct campaign challenges to the Republicans.

Before one of the greatest crowds ever assembled for a notification ceremony, the nominee emphatically declared that he favors going into the league of nations and pledged ratification of the treaty with non-destructive interpretations, if these are necessary to reach an agreement "as the first duty" of the new administration. Both declarations caused the huge assemblage to jump to its feet with shouts and cheers.

The nominee's speech, all political observers agree, makes the peace treaty the paramount issue in the big battle for the presidency.

BIG CROWD SHOUTS APPROVAL OF EVERY BLOW AT G. O. P. NOMINEE

As outlined by Cox, the issue in specific terms will be this: Senator Harding favors rejection of the treaty, peace by congressional resolution and then the launching of an attempt to form a new association of nations; the Democratic nominee would ratify the treaty and have the United States join the league with the understanding that its main purpose is the prevention of war.

With a voice, full of fight and a touch of sarcasm, Cox attacked the peace proposal of Harding, reaching his climax when he declared that "it means but one thing—a separate peace with Germany." Every blow at the Republican nominee pleased the big crowd, and the governor was interrupted frequently with shouts of "Go to 'em, Jimmy," "You tell 'em, I haven't the heart," and the like.

The governor's frequent reference to his desire to stand for progressive principles and his bitter attacks on what he termed the reactionary spirit of Senator Harding and his senatorial backers, never failed to bring spontaneous applause. His discussion of domestic issues seemed to attract equal approval.

Prominent Democrats joined with the crowd in approving the acceptance speech.

"It is an admirable speech," said Joseph P. Tumulty, secretary to the president, "Governor Cox has struck the note of true leadership." Tumulty stated that he was not in position to give the president's views of the speech, but his statement was taken to mean that Wilson will be satisfied.

WILSON'S NAME APPLAUDED

"Governor Cox's address is a most forceful and courageous discussion of the most important issues of the day," said Senator Joseph T. Robinson, who delivered the notification address.

Norman E. Mack, New York, praised the address, but Senator Reed, Missouri, declined to comment, saying he had not read the speech carefully.

Due to the fact Cox's speech was delayed several hours before actual delivery, he received a score of congratulatory telegrams before he spoke.

Reference to President Wilson drew spontaneous applause from the crowd. One of the greatest demonstrations came when Cox compared the president to a soldier whose health had been broken by the portmanteau of his duties.

Reliable estimates are that between 50,000 and 60,000 people thronged around the small judge's stand of the race track which served as a speaking platform. All around the nominee for a radius of about 50 yards was a sea of straw hats and Cox pennants and banners.

COX HEADS PARADE

The delivery of the acceptance speech required one hour and 23 minutes. Small sections of it were omitted, because a few drops of rain fell and dark clouds threatened a heavy shower. Despite the long speaking time, Cox stood up well under the strain and the militant manner of his delivery was still in evidence as he concluded the last paragraph.

Preceding the acceptance speech, Cox and Vice-Presidential Nominee Roosevelt marched at the head of a parade of approximately 20,000 shouting Democrats, with about 25 bands playing continuously. Their appearance in the parade was unexpected and caused a continuous round of cheering from the business section to the fair grounds. Elaborate decorations were everywhere.

Arriving at the fair grounds the two nominees were given a prolonged demonstration by the big crowd waiting. They took their place on the speaking stand to receive the long parade.

The governor first waved to Mrs. Cox who was in a box nearby. He then shook hands with his father, Gilbert Cox, of Camden, 87 years old. All during the ceremonies, the father kept his eyes fixed almost constantly on his son.

COX LUCK EXAMPLE

Text Of Cox's Speech, Page 4

The full text of Governor Cox's acceptance speech will be found on pages four and five. A comprehensive lead and summary of the address is given for those who do not care to read the entire speech of more than 10,000 words.

For an hour and a half the Democratic boosters in the parade marched four abreast by their nominee, and then massed on the race track enclosure. The review was one continuous line of cheering, flag-waving Democrats.

The Marion-co delegation got the greatest applause from the crowds in the stand. It was headed by a band and about 100 women, following whom were at least 300 men.

Slaps at Harding were taken by a dozen signs in the delegation. "We're here, Jim, we're all from Marion." "Will the voters stand for Republican bores—foolish question."

"No, Cox never played a horn and as president he will never play second fiddle to the United States senate." "Marion has a candidate—Dayton the next president." "It's getting a little warm on the front porch."

The Wisconsin delegation proclaimed this:

"This vote that will make Milwaukee famous—Cox 93 1-2 percent Harding 1-2 percent."

A delegation of miners from Cambridge, Ohio, in their working clothes gave Cox a big ovation. Several signs urged all miners to vote for Cox because of his labor record in Ohio.

On the stand with Cox, besides his father, Senator Robinson and Roosevelt, were the Rev. William A. Jale, who gave the invocation, F. H. Martin P. Neville, who delivered the benediction, J. Sprigg McElahon, local chairman, George White, chairman of the Democratic national committee, and Ed Moore, Cox convention manager.

Roosevelt was presented to the crowd by McElahon and was given a big cheer.

"VOLUNTEER" WHEAT

SALINA, Kan.—Last fall John O'Connor, a railroad engineer who owns a 300 acre farm in Rooks-co, was able only to rent 100 acres, the other 200 going begging.

Volunteer wheat came up on the idle ground, matured, and O'Connor took a month's vacation to "harvest." He found his land would yield about 30 bushels to the acre.

OFFICE SEEKERS DESPERATE

State Contests in Dire Need of Strong Deodorant

GORE LETTING HAS BEGUN

Packing-House Rules Control and It's War to the Death

(BY J. W. FISHER)

Thrill upon thrill features the closing days of the mad scramble staged by aspirants for nomination on the old party tickets in Ohio for state office, Roorbacks, the despicable thing behind which unworthy seekers for preferment work without conscience, resorting even to the process of blasting the reputation of another in an indefensible manner, are thus early making their appearance.

In their eagerness to gain a strange-hold position, at least a few of the candidates are resorting to tactics that would do credit to a Mexican ambush. Obsessed with the belief that even a Fiji islander could be elected this fall if he could only succeed in getting his name on the Republican ticket, certain of the adherents of that party who want to ride into power on the November 2 ballot charter have thus far committed about every political sin that can be conceived.

PACKING-HOUSE RULES.

It's a catch that the primary election at least in the state of Ohio, in which candidates will be chosen for state offices, is going to go down into history as a beautiful example of what Jim Faulkner terms the application of "packing house rules" in the slugging, stamping and gouging that is going on. The candidates are not fooling it alone over the state, some alone, some in autos and others aboard trains—but all of them are making at least a "stagger" at getting to the "deer pen."

And the wild orgy of endeavor to satiate a deep seated lust for position, of power, prominence and incidentally money, isn't confined to any one party altogether. It would be quite difficult to state just exactly which of the state candidates are doing the opposition the most dirt. The active aspirants for the Republican gubernatorial nomination have indicted each other for about everything save horses stealing and they probably overlooked that. For United States Senator there's another coterie of G. O. P. hopefuls lurching their wagons to state. From the arena wherein is staged the cork fight for the Republican nomination for Secretary of State there is emanating a loud smell, as a white Smith and a colored Smith, both with the same initials, and before the people on the primary ticket. Despite the fact that Harvey C. (white) did succeed in getting Harry C. of Elyria (colored) on the ticket with his first name spelled out, failing to keep him off the ticket altogether, there will likely be any number of people vote for the colored candidate when they wanted to place a cross in front of the name of the white Smith. Colored voters know the situation and if Harvey C. thinks that Harry C. isn't going to get a lot of votes he'd better prepare to change his mind after it's all over. The supreme court saw to it that the colored aspirant was accorded the right to a place on the primary ticket, after he was ruled off by the secretary of state, who happens to be the other contender, Harvey C. Under the constitution of the state of Ohio there is nothing to prevent a colored man from running for office, and Harry Smith has a right to run if he so desires. Getting a sufficient number of votes to win is another thing. Further musing on this already tangled situation is the candidacy of Chasley Q. Hildebrandt of Wilmington, a used to be Secretary of State.

On the Democratic end of the Secretary of State (later board) is discarded the countenance of William Duane Fulton, who served one term and was knocked down the next time up; Judge Harry A. Bell of Steubenville; Guy R. Wingerdner of Franklin-co and William H. Hoover, "Lucky Bill" Fulton felt that he ought to have the thing handed to him on a platter, on the second term installment plan, but he couldn't get the other fellows to see it in the light. At any rate, no matter what the circumstances may be altogether, it's a four-legged race.

THE BIG PLUM.
There's a nice juicy plum hanging on the tree that is labeled Auditor of State. The manner in which preferment in the primary for this take is being sought also calls for the application of a liberal supply of disinfectant in a measure equal to that deserved by other contest already named. While the Republican candidates are, figuratively speaking, lashing, log-lashing, lynch, slugging up and kicking each other, the Democratic contenders look on complacently, making note of the while and laying up treasures in the form of campaign material for use later in the political season.

One of the "beauties" of the primary system, as it transpires, is that the opposing candidates have bare in a pitiless manner for the inspection of the voters every sin of commission or omission ever committed during their lives by the other fellows.

As is stated above, this condition of affairs isn't altogether confined to the G. O. P. There are a few scraps in the ranks of the Jacksonian crowd that need to be pinned out on a line and well aired to render them more approachable. They're acquiring bad habits from the other fellow who are better schooled and more proficient in the gentle art of heaving rocks or slapping a fellow (figuratively speaking) under the ribs of another. For the United States Senatorship certificate of nomination, there is a difference of opinion that is deep rooted and filled to overflowing with all the frills and thrills that the innocent bystander likes to gaze upon.

For Secretary of State there is a triangular war on, one of the entrants boldly affirming that he is vested with such "rights" in the premises that under the proposed constitution nobody is licensed to oppose him in his demand for a second term, no matter how long it takes to get it. A candidate for Attorney General is also in the com-back cart and likewise seeks to have the second term idea applied with the flicking quality of a porous plaster.

The imitation of a Kentucky feud out of range of the movies, by the Republicans for the best office in the state house, that of State Auditor, is being duplicated by the Democrats. The net result to date has been more kaleidoscopic than that second ball game between Kiwanis and Rotary. They sure are re-christening one another with new names, and they're not taken from the bible list, either.

While the disciples of the party out of power and wanting in, lash themselves into a frenzy of expectant excitement over the possibility of getting their snouts into the state oats bin once more, as in the good old days ago, those who are in are just as certain that they, or others of their kind, are going to continue to peddle out the pap. On with the dance!

Quite naturally, the most attractive of these statewide contests is the manner in which the lightning rod hoisters are attempting to spear the United States Senatorship nomination. There's former Governor Frank Bartlett Willis, who climbed the ladder of fame to the top rung in the Chicago national Republican convention and seeks as his reward C. O. P. help in his aspirations to step into Warren Gamaliel's shoes in Washington. Supreme Court Justice Reuben M. Wanamaker of Akron is busy trying to prevent the Delaware man from a realization of his ambitions. Walter Folger Brown of Toledo, J. Mace Walcott of Fairfield-co and J. C. Walser of Akron, are likewise longingly looking at Washington. Brown has a distinct advantage over the others in that his name will stand out as prominent as a dimple in a maiden's chin, while the names of the others, all beginning with a "W," will be bunched on the ballot. Walter F. will lose nothing at the hands of the indifferent voters on that score. However, the former Good Young Governor is refreshing the minds of the folks that both Brown and Wanamaker deserted the dear old party in 1912 and 1914 and chased after the forlorn hope staged by the Progressives. Countering on Francis Bartlett, these twain recall that in 1912 the Delawarean declined to take the stump for either Taft or Roosevelt. Afraid of the cars! they said.

W. A. Julian, prominent Cincinnati manufacturer, was expected to have a clean bill for nomination for United States Senator on the Democratic ticket, but along comes Judge A. F. O'Neill of Akron with a crow bar and pries his way in. Mr. Julian's record is expected to stand him well in hand in the vote garnering. Besides, he was particularly active in behalf of the candidacy of Governor Cox for President and aided in no small manner in lining up Kentucky for the Governor at the right time. O'Neill is the chap who is using a dirigible in making his campaign.

Rivals four for the Republican gubernatorial identification tag, Lieut. Col. Ralph D. Cole and former Mayor Harry L. Davis of Cleveland are engaged in the gentle pastime of hawking each other out worse than a Punch and Judy show, while Roscoe McCulloch of Canton maintains a dodging position between the two and David Wesley Wood is ready to grab off the "crumbs of comfort" that may fall from the table. Despite the fireworks and heavy artillery on the hill tops of the Cole effort, there is no mistaking that the trend of the liberal support and the labor vote in G. O. P. ranks is toward Davis. The leaders recognizing that every element possible must be thrown to the support of the party's nominee to offset the big gash Vic Donahey will make in the Republican vote, are prone to favor the Cleveland man who felt that the more dignified the Governor of the state than Mayor of the Forest City. The urban support is swinging to Davis and Colonel Cole is being lambasted unmercifully. Here in Lima the "big boys" would like to be loyal to Cole, who measures up to their liking, but then there's the order from "higher up." Donahey's strength in the election is a nightmare for the hall room boys in the Republican gubernatorial boarding house and they feel that Davis will make a more successful candidate than anyone else to stop the State Auditor. Knowing ones say that McCulloch is the more able of the quartette in point of ability and desirability. But with Cole and McCulloch dividing the anti-saloon league support, Davis is already poking his nose in between 'em.

Usually, a nomination for Lieutenant Governor is about as desirable as preferment for coroner in Auglaize-co, where the incumbent has little or nothing to do save look wise and go to the ball game. But "all signs fail in dry weather." The battle axe is red with gore in this department of Buckeye State endeavor also. Here is the Republican situation: In addition to being torn and excited from stem to stern with the most exciting local campaigning in its history and having two aspirants for the Democratic nomination for congress-man, Darke-co has a determined nemesis on the trail of a bidder for the "Loot Gov." label, Hon. William Halley is his name and Greenville his county seat. He is after the Hon. Clarence J. Brown of Blanchester, who upset the dough pan two years ago when the job was intended for another. Then he kicked Willis' nomination plan on the shins, joined Rudy Archer and Harvey Smith and Halley was kept outside the pro house, with a muzzle on, at that. Later, in a fight for the organization of the state senate, Halley came out with hoof and claws on the situation, while Clarence J. was mauled to a pulp. And the war is still on. Despite the fact that Brown claims the right of a second nomination, "faces well organized opposition" in Carl R. Kimball Lakota, John B. Huns of Cincinnati has also "stepped into" the fight and there are fresh complications. Willis is loser in the Highland-co district as a result of his participation in the G. O. P. family feud. For it was the Willis-Dougherty crew that unseated Brown's uncle, D. Q. Morrow of Highland-co as chairman of the state central committee and elevated Newton H. Fairbanks of Springfield, a brother of the former vice president of the United States, to the post. The same Newton H. at the time of the Chicago convention, loafed around the Congress Hotel and was "prominently" mentioned for the gubernatorial nomination, but the spectre of other days, detailed just above, arose to haunt him. He decided to keep out of the path of the juggernaut. In the meantime the factional feud goes on forever and the fowls are coming home to roost.

No one has been able to "finger out" just why that Cleveland Democratic bunch started out to have Senator Howell Wright of the Forset city, labeled for the position of Lieutenant Governor. They certainly must have known that the former second placer, Earl D. Bloch of Bowling Green, expected to run for a second term. Those uninitiated in the style of politics played in and around Cleveland are still wondering.

Going down the line, in a presentment of the cogwheels of the patriots seeking to serve as State Auditor (and collect while doing it), it is found that there are a sufficient number of Republican pleaders in place to satisfy the most exacting voter in making a choice. There, count 'em—E. M. Pullington of Columbus, Stephen A. Stillwell of Lebanon, and Joseph T. Tracey of Portsmouth. All these have been on speaking terms with the Auditor's office and would like to renew the acquaintance. Hayes Adams of Erie-co, who eulchered the rest of the bunch out of the party nomination on the occasion of Vic Donahey's last battle was so beautifully licked that he "just natchelly" now feels that he doesn't care to be flattened again.

Friends of John Harper of Jackson, state budget, commissioner wanted him nominated by acclamation on the Democratic ticket, but there was nothing doing. Alfred Peckinpaugh of Wooster, state tax commissioner, horned in, they say, thinking the cards were running true in his behalf. More turbulent and roiled became the water when Daniel E. Butler of Toledo, with the state utilities commission and an expert in executive administration, also fell into the pool. Now nobody knows who's to be the favored "chee-ild," but Peckinpaugh's pupils hope to push him in between the other two.

With stilettos drawn and whetted to a keen edge, an averaging crew is trailing Rudolph W. Archer of Cleveland, intent on letting blood. For he it known that the Treasurer of state (Archer) pulled a few didoes two years ago when Secretary Smith and Lieut. Gov. Brown mangled Bill Halley in a gory and deadly manner. Archer was short of votes in 1916, along with the Republican outfit as a whole, but came back in 1918. It was planned to let him have another as a reward for services rendered in getting the party on its pins again. But George Stauffer of Putnam-co wants the party reorganized more drastically and any number of the fellows are laying for the Ottawa man with an elm club. All plans for Archer were in the discard when Harry Day, puffed with the importance of having twice been elected mayor of Democratic Fremont, nosed in for Archer's job. Now all bets on Archer are off.

One of these two will have to go up against Charles H. Orwig on the Democratic ticket in November. Orwig is a world war hero, three times wounded and who lost a limb and was near death from being gassed. He was in the Argonne. Early in the campaign it was expected that both parties would endorse Orwig and that he'd be hustled into the state house without opposition, but Archer and Day apparently don't believe in rewarding war heroes.

There were anxious days and nights for Attorney General John G. Price when a mess of postage was cooked up to have someone—the Lord only know who—make a sashay for his nunny in this good year. However, John succeeded in proving up on his assertion that he had nothing to do with the storm that broke against Secretary Smith and Lieutenant Governor Brown and the dogs of opposition were edited off and chained up. John put on his smile again and has nothing to worry about save the election. But Lord knows, that'll likely be a plenty.

Joseph McGhee of Columbus and David C. Parker of Wyandot, are milling around for the Attorney Generalship in the Democratic department. After serving as assistant to Timothy Hogan, McGhee was elected but when he sought reelection was defeated. Now he seeks a comeback and is using as campaign "thunder" an endorsement worded by former Governor Judson Harmon.

C. L. FESS

COMMON PLEAS JUDGE

C. L. Fess, candidate for Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Allen county, Ohio, was born near Harrod, Ohio, March 2, 1866. He is the youngest of six sons of Henry Fess, deceased. He has four children and lives at 1040 West High Street, Lima, Ohio.

He worked his way thru school, taught for several years in Allen and Auglaize counties, graduated in law at the O. N. U. in 1899, and has given the last twenty years of his life exclusively to the practice of law.

He has been a Democrat all his life and an active supporter of his party. Mr. Fess has never been an office holder, and if people of Allen county see fit to make him their next Common Pleas Judge, they will have in him a Judge who will fearlessly discharge his whole duty, free from entanglements of any kind whatsoever, and without obligations to any faction, class or corporation or private interest and with no prejudice toward any person or persons connected with the administration of justice. In fact, a square deal for everybody.

Respectfully,
PUBLICITY COMMITTEE

Comco Corsets

Priced at

$6.50 to $10.00

A RADICALLY NEW IDEA is presented in this corset which has been scientifically worked out to correct disproportionate lines of the lower back, hips and thighs, support the abdomen and improve the general contour of the body. The adjustment is made by a unique and original arrangement of the lacing from the waist line to the bottom of the corset and the block and tackle arrangement of the adjusting straps. A staple pull on the straps is all that is necessary to adjust it. The corset is absolutely comfortable because it can be pulled to any degree of tightness desired and holds the corset firmly in place, thus eliminating the unpleasant slipping up which frequently occurs if the hip line is full for other proportions of the body. A reduction of two to five inches in the hip measure can be obtained with the Comco more than can be secured by any other corset.

REASONS FOR GIVING

There is another reason for the business contributions to the present campaign. Much money, of course, has been subscribed in proper partisan zeal, but the great bulk has been given with the definite idea of gaining service in return. Many captains of industry, guided by a most dangerous industrial philosophy, believe that in controversy between employer and employee their will should be paramount, even at the point of the bayonet. I have passed through many serious industrial troubles. I know something of their psychology, the stages through which they pass, and the dangerous attempts that are sometimes made to end them. Disputes between labor and capital are inevitable. The disposition to gain the best bargain possible characterizes the whole field of exchange, whether it be produced for product, or labor for money. If strikes are prolonged public opinion always settles them. Public opinion should determine results in America. Public opinion is the most interesting characteristic of a democracy, and it is the real safety valve to the institutions of a free government. It may, at times, be necessary for government to inquire into the facts of a tie-up, but facts and not conclusions should be submitted. The determining form of unprejudiced thought will do the rest. During this process, governmental agencies must give a vigilant eye to the protection of life and property, and maintain firmness but absolute impartiality. This is always the real test, but if official conduct comes under the microscope, come out of these affairs untarnished by distrust. This is not an academic observation. It is the mere recital of experience. Unrest has been reinforced in no small degree by the great mass of unassimilated aliens. Attracted by an unprecedented demand for labor, they have come to our shores by the hundreds. They have become acquainted with the customs and opportunities of American life, thousands of them have become citizens and are owners of their own homes. However, the work of assimilation too long was merely automatic. One million six hundred thousand foreign born in this country cannot read or write our language. Our interest in them is mainly in the great trade centers, to meet the demand of the hour. Without home or community ties, many have been more or less nomadic, creating the problem of excessive turnover, which has perplexed manufacturing plants. But this has not been the worst phase of the situation. Unfamiliar with laws, principles of government, they have fallen an easy prey to unprincipled and designing persons. Public opinion has had no influence upon them, because they have been isolated from the currents of opinion, all due to their not being able to read or write our language. It is the duty of the federal government to stimulate the work of Americanization on the part of church, school, community agencies, state government and industry itself. In the past, many industries that have suffered from chronic restlessness have been the chief contributors to their own troubles. The foreigner with European standards of living was welcomed, but too often no attempt was made to educate him to domestic ideals for the simple reason that it adversely affected the ledger. It has been my observation that the man who learns our language, yields to a controlling public opinion and respects our laws; besides, in proportion as his devotion to American life develops, his interest in the impulsive progress of revolution diminishes. We must be patient in the work of assimilation and studiously avoid oppressive measures in the face of mere evidence of misunderstanding. We have a composite nation. The Almighty doubtless intended it to be such. We will not, however, develop patriotism unless we demonstrate the difference between despotism and the drastic laws of the necessity for the present hour, and we should return at the earliest opportunity, to statutory provisions passed in time of peace for the general welfare. There is no condition now that warrants any infringement on the right of free speech and assembly nor on the liberty of the press. The greatest measure of individual freedom consists with the safety of our constitution. Excessive regulation causes manifestations that compel restraint. The police power, therefore, is called to action because the legislative authority acted unwisely.

DIFFERENCE IS MARKED

A foregoing policy is not the proper one for the deliberate enemy of our institutions. He is of the kind that knows conditions abroad and here. The difference between autocracy and democracy is well marked in his mind. He is opposed to government in any form, and he hates ours because it appeals to those whom he would convert to his creed. Any policy of terrorism is fuel to his flame of anarchy. Those whom he seeks to arouse, in time realize the difference between his and their mental attitude, so that when the law lays hand upon his willful menace to government, the purpose of it becomes plain to them. Officials exhibition to our people. It is difficult to follow the reasoning of anyone who would seek to make an issue of the question of law-enforcement. The executive obligation, both national and state, on assuming the oath of office is to "preserve, protect and defend the constitution of the United States." The constitution, in its essence, is the license and limitation given to and placed upon the law-making body, the legislative branch of government, is subjected to the rule of the majority. The public official who fails to enforce the law, is an enemy both to the constitution and to the American principle of majority rule. It would seem quite unnecessary for any candidate for the presidency to say that he does not intend to violate his oath of office. Anyone who is false to that oath is more unworthy than the law violator himself.

Morals cannot easily be produced by statute. The law of injunction should not be abused. It should be a safeguard to person and property, it could easily be a abuse cease to be the protective device it was intended to be. Capital develops into large units without violence to public sentiment or injury to public interest—the same principle should not be denied to labor. Collective bargaining through the means of representatives selected by the employer and employee respectively, will be helpful, rather than harmful to the general interest. Besides, there is no ethical objection that can be raised to it. We should not, by law, abridge a man's right either to labor or to quit his employment. However, neither labor nor capital should at any time or in any circumstances, take action that would put in jeopardy the public welfare. I have a definite and precise statement of policy as to what business man and workmen may do and may not do by way of combination and collective action. The law is now so nebulous that it almost turns upon the economic predilections of the judge or jury. This does not make for confidence in the courts and respect for the law, nor for a healthy activity in production and distribution. There surely will be found ways by which co-operation may be encouraged without the destruction of enterprise. The rules of business should be made more certain so that on a state basis, men may move with confidence.

DUTY OF GOVERNMENT

Government, however should provide the means in the treatment of its employees, to keep in touch with conditions and to rectify wrong. It is needless to say that in order to be consistent, facts should be at all times justly the pre-supposition that the government employees are properly compensated.

The child life of the nation should be conserved; if labor in immature years is permitted by one generation, it is practicing unfairness to the next.

Agriculture is but another form of industry. In fact, it is the basis of industry because it depends on the food supply. The drift from countryside into the city, carries disquieting portents. If our growth in manufacturing in the next few years holds its present momentum, it will be necessary for Americans to import foodstuffs. It therefore devolves upon government, thru intensive scientific co-operation to maintain the existing balance between food production and consumption. Farming will not inspire individual effort unless profits, all things considered, are equal to those in other activities. An additional check to depleted tanks in the fields would be the establishment of modern state rural schools. The federal government should maintain active sponsorship of this. Rural parents would be lacking in the element which makes civilization enduring if they did not desire for their children educational opportunities comparable to those in the cities. The price the consumer pays for foodstuffs is no indication of what the producer receives. There are too many turn-overs between the farmer, the society and government, particularly local and state, have been remiss in not modernizing local marketing facilities. Municipalities must in large measure interest themselves in it, not directly control community markets. This is a matter of such importance that the federal government can profitably expend money and effort in helping to devise methods and to show the virtues. The farmer raises his crop and the price which he receives is determined by supply and demand. His products in beef and pork and produce, pass into cold storage and ordinarily when they reach the consumer the law of supply and demand does not obtain. The preservation of foodstuffs by diverse methods and to show the virtues, and it should be encouraged. However, the time has come for its vigorous regulation and inasmuch as it becomes a part of interstate commerce, the responsibility is with the federal government. Supplies are gathered in from the farm in times of plenty. They can easily be fed out to the consumer in such manner as to keep the demand in excess of the supply. The price which is received from storage is higher than the price which should be received. This is an unfair practice and should be stopped. Besides, there should be a time limit beyond which perishable foodstuffs should not be stored. Every successful modern business enterprise has its purchasing, producing and selling departments. The farmer has maintained only one, the producing department, and is not only fair that he be enabled both to purchase and to sell advantageously, but it is absolutely necessary because he has become a competitor with the manufacturer for labor. He has been unable to compete in the past and his help in consequence has been insufficient. Therefore the right of co-operative purchasing and selling in the modern view, should be removed from all question. Agricultural thought has not been sufficiently represented in affairs of government. Many of the branches of the government which deal remotely or directly with the soil and its problems and its possibilities would be more valuable to the general welfare if the practical experience of the farmer were an element in their administration. To be specific, the Interstate Commerce Commission, the Federal Reserve Board, the Federal Trade Commission and the United States Tariff Commission are administered by business men. Does anyone contribute more to the making and success of railroads than the farmer or to the creation and prosperity of the banks, or to the stability of manufacturing and trade units, or to the agencies interested in exporting?

DECREASED TENANCY

Our objective should be a decreased tenancy. With the period of occupancy uncertain, the renter strips land of its fertile elements, and each year diminishes our national assets. Under the operation of the Federal Reserve and the Farm Loan acts, encouragement has come to thousands who find that industry, character and intelligence are a golden security to the people's banker, the government of the United States. Multiply our home owners, and you will make the way of the renter more difficult. Bring into the picture of American life more farmers, happily a part of garden and field and streams running into the national current of patriotism. Help to equalize the burdens of taxation by making the holders of hidden wealth pay their share with those whose property is in sight. In short, removed the penalty imposed upon home-building thrift, and thousands of contented households under the shelter of their own roof, will look upon government with affection, recognizing that in it they are protecting themselves. There are more home owners in America than ever before. The prosperity of the country under Democratic rule has been widely diffused. Never before has the great mass of the people shared in the blessings of plenty. There is much to be done, however, in multiplying our home owners. Nothing will bring more golden return to the welfare of the republic.

Common prudence would suggest that we increase to our utmost, our area of tillable land. The race between increased consumption and added acreage has been unequal. Modern methods of soil treatment have been helpful, but they have their limitations. There are still vast empires in extent, in our country, performing no service to humanity. They require only the applied genius of men, to cover them with the bloom and harvest of human necessities. The government should take the task of irrigation projects. Every dollar spent will yield compensating results.

THE FOOD QUESTION

Any discussion of the question of food supply leads very quickly to the closely related matter of transportation. There is no one thing which brings us so intermittently to critical conditions than the insecurity of our transportation facilities. Both the railroads and the public are to blame. There has been no material addition to the total mileage in the last ten years, and the increase in terminals has been much less than required. At the beginning of the war, the rolling stock was sadly reduced and inadequate. The public had not given in to the service, and the revenues on which credit could be allowed by the banks. Moral assistance was withheld because of railroad policies that did not bring approval. Many of these corporations had made themselves a part of political activities, local, state and national. Then there were more or less sporadic instances of stock-watering operations, the exploitation of utility properties for personal gain. Abuses were not general, but they were sufficient to bring the entire railroad system of the country in disrepute. The good suffered with the evil. When the transportation lines were taken over by the government, they were barely able to limp thru the task of the day. Only the operation, the elimination of the long haul, and the merging of every mile of track and terminal and every car and engine into a co-ordinated plan of operation, enabled the government to transport troops and supplies, at the same time affording, under great stress, a satisfactory outlet for our industries. It should be remembered in this connection that the government has not been able to throw our deciding strength into the balance and win the war. Any attempt to discredit the federal operations of railroads during the years of grave emergency is unfair. In the case of those who know the facts, it is insincere. Too much cannot be said in praise of those who directed this work, nor of the men who physically operated the lines under the discouraging conditions of poor equipment. But all of this is water over the wheel. The problem of the roads is still with us. The government has the right to demand every co-operation in the utmost good faith, to give thorough test to private ownership. The railroads have had their lesson. Government regulation is accepted now as not only a safeguard to the public, but as a conserving process to the utility. Financial credit is necessary to the operation of the roads, and it should be sufficient for the period of maximum demand. We should not lose sight, however, of the vast possibilities of supplementary service by water. The Great Lakes and St. Lawrence navigation project, particularly, should claim the interest of the government. About one-third of our states would be supplied with an outlet for every ton of their products, and the opportunity to make of the lake harbor, great ocean ports of entry is inspiring to contemplate. In the crop-moving period, the call on the railroads is staggering. Grain piles up in the elevators. With stagnation more or less general, the farmer sells his product under the most unfavorable conditions. The trackage and terminal in middle states particularly, are clogged with local traffic and interfered with local movements of freight is inevitable. The solution would be simplified by utilizing the waterways. Aside from this, the accruing gain from every crop would be a consideration for the reason that the price of grain in this country is made by the Chicago market and it is determined by the London quotations. The price in the British metropolis is a stated figure less the cost of transportation. The routing of these commodities by water would effect a saving of approximately eight cents a bushel, which means that American grain would net just that much more.

GENERAL RESERVE ACT

For more than forty years before Woodrow Wilson was elected president in 1912, reform in banking and currency system had been almost universally demanded and had been year after year deferred or refused by the stand-pat element of the Republican party in obedience to orders. The control of money and interest rates had long been held by favored groups who were thus able to dominate markets, regulate prices, particularly in the case of the sugar friends, destroy rivers, manipulate and end panics and in part thru their financial, social and political outposts, be the real rulers of America. The Federal Reserve act was originated, advocated and made a law by a Democratic president and congress, against the bitter protests of the Republican stand-patters, who although without exception voted against it. Among these men were the familiar names of Sumner, Lodge, Penrose, and Smoot. The inside senate cabal responsible for the existing status in the leadership of their party. The Federal Reserve act is admitted to be the most constructive monetary legislation in history. At a stroke it transferred the power over money and credit and all the restraints, from one financial district out into the keeping of the people themselves. Instead of one center to which all paid tribute, there are five citadels of finance, freedom where every citizen has an equal right and where the principle that the credit of American business shall be free is the basis of administration. Every citizen should be alert to guard this great institution which is his guarantee of credit independence. It should be kept from the hands of those who have never been his friends, and who by changes in a few obscure phrases could translate it into a greater power for evil than it ever has been for good. It is almost unnecessary to speak of the Federal Reserve system in connection with the winning of the war, as next to the conservation of our manhood and womanhood itself, the greatest factor was the marshaling into one unit thru the national banks of the stupendous wealth of America. Those of vision who look out beyond our shores into that commercial domain where we are so justly entitled to enter in a time of peace, latent power of the Federal Reserve system can be seen promoting in every quarter of the globe an ever-widening flow of American commerce. We will soon have a fleet of about 11,000, 400 tons aggregate, every ship flying the American bottom, the products of mill and mine and factory and farm. This would seem to be a guarantee of continued prosperity. Our facilities for exchange and credit, however, in foreign lands, should be enlarged and under the federal reserve system, banks should be established in important trading centers. I am impressed also with the importance of improving, if not reorganizing our consular service. The certain increase in foreign trade would seem to demand it. This suggests another change. Our ambassadors to foreign countries have had assigned to them a military and a naval attaché. The staff should be enlarged as to include an officer of the government whose exclusive duty would be to make observation and report development and improvement in educational and social problems generally.

GOVERNMENT BUREAUS

Government Bureaus during the war had close contact with the business organization of the country. The experience revealed the modern need of reorganization along purely business lines. The advantages of a democracy in government need not be recounted. It has been held by experts that it involves the disadvantage of disbursements, authorized by the law-making power without sufficient knowledge of the staff and the service, or the possibilities of extravagance. The answer to this is the budget system. No successful business enterprise of any size can operate without it. For a hundred years, the federal unit, and the states as well, made appropriations without determining the difference between department need and caprice. At the same time, paying little attention to the relation between income and expense. Many of the states have adopted a budget system, and with a success that carries no exception. Efficiency has been improved—departmental responsibility has been centered, and economies have been effected. The same can be done by the federal government. The staff should be enlarged as to include an officer of the government whose exclusive duty would be to make observation and report development and improvement in educational and social problems generally.

I am convinced after considerable study of the subject that the expense of the government can be reduced to a minimum of four billion dollars, including sinking fund and interest on the national debt. When we enter the League of Nations, we should at the same time diminish our cost for armaments. To continue expenditures in either the war or the navy departments on a vast scale, once our membership in the League is assured, would seem to be a very definite refusal of the advantages of the world plan which we believe it possesses. An appealing fundamental in the League method, is the reduction of armaments. We cannot afford to do it, until other nations do likewise. If we do not enter the League, hundreds of millions of dollars must be spent for armaments. If we go in, and I believe the people will insist on it, then we can cut our armaments.

PLATFORM SCORES

Since the last national convention of the two great parties, a world war has been fought, historic, unprecedented. For many months, civilization hung in the balance. In the despair of dark hours, it seemed as if the world dictator was inevitable, and that democracy men and women who had lived in freedom would stand at attention, in the face of the drawn sword of military autocracy. The very soul of America was touched as never before with a fear that our liberties were to be taken away. What America did, needs no reiteration here. It is known of all men. History will acclaim it—poets will find in it inspiration through the ages. And yet there is not a line in the Republican platform that breathes an emotion of pride, or recites our national achievement. In fact, if a man from Mars were to depend upon the Republican platform or its spoken interpretation, by the candidate of that party, as his first that moved the lathe by day and not find a syllable telling him that the war had been won, and that America had saved the world. How ungenerous and how ungrateful is this! How unfair that a more group of leaders should so demean themselves in the name of the party of Lincoln and McKinley and Roosevelt.

The discourtesy to the president is an affair of political intrigue. History will make it odious. As well might it be directed at a wounded soldier of the war. One told in the trench; the strength of the other was broken in the enormous labors of his office. But others were ignored—the men and women who labored at home with an industry and a shift that words cannot recount. What of the hands that moved the lathe by day and the needle by night? What of the organizations, superbly effective, that conserved food and fed the world—that carried nourishment to the very front trench in the face of hell's torments—that nursed the wounded back to life—that buried the dead in the dark shelter of the night—that inspired business men and artisans of all parties to work in harmony? What of the millions of men, women and children of all creeds, religions and otherwise, who stood in the ranks as firm as soldiers overseas, undivided by things they once quarreled about? What of the government itself—confirming the faith of our fathers sufficient to nurse the stars of time? Why the sheer at labor with the veiled charge that it was a mere slacker? The spectacle is sufficient to convince any unprejudiced man that the Republican leaders who have taken charge of their party and nominated its candidate, are no more possessed of the spirit of the hour than they were in 1912 when they precipitated a revolution within the ranks and file of a great organization. If further proof were needed, the action of the present congress supplies it. Not a constructive law can be cited. Money and time were wasted in seeking to make a military triumph an odious chapter in history—and yet is it not significant that after two years of sleuthing inquiry, there was nothing revealed in that vast enterprise, carrying billions of dollars in expense, upon which they could base even a whisper of dishonesty?

MEXICAN SITUATION

The Mexican situation, trying to our patience for years, begins to show signs of improvement. Not the least of the things that have contributed to it, is a realization by the people of that country, that we have neither the lust for their domain, nor disposition to disturb their sovereign rights. Peace smiles upon the border and incentive to individual enterprise seems to be making national aspiration.

Many elements have made our republic enduring; not the least of which is a sustained gratitude. The richest traditions of our land are woven from historic threads that tell the bravery of our soldiers of every war. They make the first impression of history upon the minds of our children and bind the hearts of a generation together. Never in all time will the performance of our soldiers in the late war be surpassed. From farm, forest and factory they gathered together in the training camps—from countryside and city—men whose hands were calloused by labor, others whose shoulders showed the stoop of office task—the blood of many battles flowing in their veins, and the same men, in the face of the trench in Europe back to the first day in training. We must not forget that was breaks into the plans of young men, and their first chart of life is in a sense more important than any calculation later on. In college and shop—in every calling, they were building the base for their careers. Thousands of them, by the circumstances of injury or the disturbances of domestic conditions which war always brings, were compelled to change their whole course of life. We owe a debt to those who died, and to those the honored dead left dependent. We owe a debt to the wounded; but we must realize that considerable compensation is due those also who lost much of their lives in their own hopes and aspirations. The genius of the nation's mind and the sympathy of its heart, must inspire intensive thoughtful effort, to assist those who saved our all, I feel deeply that the rehabilitation of the disabled soldiers of the recent war is one of the most vital issues before the people and I, as a candidate, pledge myself and my party to the maintenance of a program to do all in my power to secure for them without unnecessary delay, the immediate training which is so necessary to fit them to compete in their struggle to overcome the physical handicap incurred while in the service of their government. I believe also that the Federal Board of Vocational Rehabilitation as far as possible should employ disabled soldiers themselves in a supervisory rehabilitation of disabled soldiers because of their known sympathy and understanding. The board itself and all agencies under it should be burdened with the care of securing for the disabled soldier who has finished his training, adequate employment. These men will inspire future generations no less than they have themselves been inspired by the heroes of the past. No greater force for patriotic effort was found when we were drawn into the late conflict than the example and activity of our veterans of previous wars. Under the colors they loved, gathered the soldiers of the past, bringing quickly to their support the new army of the republic. Repose was not the only thing that the men who wore the gray inspired the youth with a zeal which added greatly in the quick mobilization of our forces.

Praise for Women

The women of America, in emotion and constructive service, measured up during the war to every requirement, and emergency exacted of them. Their initiative, their enthusiasm, and their sustained industry, which carried many of them to the heavy burdens of toil, form an undying page in the annals of the time, while the touch of the mother heart in camp and hospital gave a sacred color to the tragic picture that feeble words should not even attempt to portray. They demonstrated not only willingness but capacity. They helped win the war, and they are entitled to a voice in the readjustment now at hand. Their intuition, their sense of the humanitarian in government, their unquestioned progressive spirit will be helpful in problems that require public judgment. Therefore they are entitled to the privilege of voting in the election of 1920. It is their duty to be helpful in maintaining a wholesome and patriotic policy, requires but one more state to ratify the national amendment and thus bring a long-delayed justice. I have the same earnest hope as our platform expresses, that some one of the remaining states will promptly take a favorable action. Senator Harding's theory of the great office to which he aspires, putting a thoroughly fair interpretation on his own words, is that the government of this country, so far as it is embodied in the executive should be what he is pleased to call "government by party," as in contrast with the exercise by the president of his own best final judgment under the responsibility assumed by his solemn oath of office, taking into consideration the views of others, of course, in arriving at that final judgment, but recognizing no group of any kind, not sworn, as he is, to the faithful performance of the particular duties in question, and not subject to impeachment, as he is, in case of serious malfeasance in the performance of those duties. The latter is the conception of the president held by Washington, John Adams and Thomas Jefferson in initiating our great experiment in political and personal freedom under the constitution. It is the conception held by Lincoln and Roosevelt, by Cleveland and Wilson, and all other presidents of the past to whom history has assigned a significant place in the normal growth of our free institutions. It is the conception of the presidency to which, in case of success of the Democratic party in the coming election, my own best efforts shall be dedicated, with a solemn sense of responsibility to the power above, to the people of the United States as a whole, and to the sacred oath of allegiance to the constitution and the laws. There is, and will always be, a useful place for parties in the conduct of a free government; but any theory of a "government by party," which must weaken this solemn sense of personal responsibility, or alter its traditional direction and turn it toward party creation, can only eventuate in the possible evils of party, and thereby its possible advantages. I am sincerely grateful to the Democratic party for the opportunities of public service which it has brought to me in the past, and for the willingness which it has shown to extend those opportunities to still a greater field; but I am glad to say that it has always recognized that any official duties were to the people as a whole, and has in no case attempted to interfere, under pretext of party responsibility, with my right of personal judgment, under oath, in the performance of those duties.

Interest in Education

There must be an awakened interest in education. The assumption that things are all right is an error. There is more or less of a general idea that because our school system generally is satisfactory, and in most instances is being made, sufficient progress is being made. The plain fact reveals two startling things, one, a growing declination in the ranks of teachers and the other, the existence of five and one-half million illiterates. It is true that 1,600,000 of these are foreign born. The army of instructors has been more or less demoralized thru financial temptation from other activities which pay much better. We owe too much to the next generation to be remiss in this matter. Very satisfactory progress is being made in several states in the teaching of native born illiterates. The moonlight school in Kentucky has, in fact, become a historic institution. The practice has spread into other commonwealths, and bands of noble men and women are rendering great service. There should be no encroachment by the federal government on local control. It is the healthful, reasonable individualism of American national life that has enabled the citizens of this republic to think for themselves, and besides, state and community initiative would be impaired by any approach of dependence. To central government, however, can inventory the possibilities of progressive education, and in helpful manner create an enlarged public interest in this subject.

IMPROVES GOOD FAITH

There will be no attempt in the campaign to compromise by doing away with our opposition. So many people have been in the mood of gathering business for the reaction, any cause that the millions already in hand are more or less a matter of general information. All that we ask is that both parties deal in the utmost good faith with the electorate and tell the plain truth as to the amounts received, the contributions, and the items of disbursements. The public judgment in elections should be rendered after the fullest hearing possible. Each side has the right to properly present its case. This is a legitimate expense. There is no narrow dividing line between the legitimate and illegitimate in political campaigns. One contemplates the organization and maintenance of such facilities as are necessary to advise the people of the facts bearing upon the issues; the other carries the deliberate purpose to interfere with the honest rendering of a verdict. How misguided some of our people are. Recognizing that readjustment must be made, they believe that they will fare better if they cast their fortunes with those with whom they dealt on the basis of campaign contributions. They are not to be deceived by the designers that threaten. The sort of readjustment which will apply to our self-respect and ultimately to our general prosperity, is the honest readjustment. Any unfair adjustment simply delays the ultimate process and we should remember the lesson of history that one Tuesday usually leads to another. We desire industrial peace. We want our people to have an abiding confidence in government, but to readjustment made under reactionary auspices, will carry with it the confidence of the country. If I were asked to name in these trying days, the first essential overshadowing every other consideration, the one purpose would be confidence in government. It would be nothing less than a calamity if the next administration were elected under corrupt auspices. There is unrest in the country; our people have passed through a trying experience. The European war before it engulfed us, caused every racial thread in a nation of composite elements. The conflict in which we participated carried anxieties into every community and thousands upon thousands of homes were touched by tragedy. The inconveniences incident to the war have been disquieting; the fact, the use of the Republican Congress to repeal any law, has added to our troubles. The natural tendency is to forget the past, to develop new interests, to create a refreshed and refreshing atmosphere in life. We want to forget war and be free from the troubling thought of its possibility in the future. We want the dawn and the dews of a new morning. We want happiness in the land, the feeling that the average deal among men and between men and government is not to be interloped with by a purchase preference. We want a change from the old world of yesterday where international intrigue, made the people mere pawns in the chessboard of war. We want a change from the old industrial world where the man who toiled was assured "a full day's pay" as his only lot, and portion. But how are we to make the change? Which way shall we go? We stand at the forks of the road and must choose which to follow. One leads to a higher citizenship, a freer extension of the individual and a fuller life for all. The other leads to reaction, the rule of the few over the many and the restriction of the average man's chances to grow upward. Cunning devices backed by unlimited prodigal expenditures will be used to confuse and to lure. But I have an abiding faith that the pitiful shall be avoided and the right road chosen. The leaders opposed to democracy promise to put the country "back to normal." This can only mean the so-called normal of former reactionary administrations, the outstanding feature of which was a pitance for farm produce and a small wage for a long day's toil. My vision does not turn backward to the "normal" desired by the senatorial oligarchy, but to a future in which all shall have a normal opportunity to cultivate a higher stature amidst better environment than that of the past. Our view is toward the sunrise of tomorrow with its progress and its promise of better things. The opportunist stands in the skyward of the setting sun, looking backward, to the old days of reaction.

I accept the nomination of our party, obedient to the Divine Sovereignty of all peoples, and hope that by trust in Him the way will be shown for helpful service.

REPORT COMPLETE ON CANDIDATES

Unionists Check Up Those Seeking Nomination in Primary.

NO RECOMMENDATIONS MADE

Program for Labor Day Will Be Taken Up Tuesday.

Much interest has been manifested in the past few days concerning the activities of the non-partisan committee of the Trades and Labor Council. At two meetings held this week the work of the committee was completed and the results of the investigations are now being given wide publicity thru labor channels.

For weeks past the non-partisan committee working in conjunction with the executive board of the Ohio State Federation of Labor and the non-partisan committee of the American Federation of Labor, has worked faithfully in an effort to obtain the records of all candidates seeking labor's suffrage at the polls.

The committee has made no recommendation or endorsement, no presumption is made as to those for whom the workers shall vote; facts and records have been considered and candidates are simply reported as being thought favorable or unfavorable, and whether or not the questionnaire recently sent out, was answered.

Members of the non-partisan committee believe that unionists and other workers will follow closely their report, and that there will be an unusually large number to the polls on Tuesday.

The committee which has the Trades and Labor Council arranged for Labor Day celebration in hand, will hold another meeting on Tuesday evening at the court house, when the program and all other details will be taken up. As this is the regular meeting date of the Trades Council, the two meetings will probably be held as one, and a full attendance is anticipated.

On Monday evening, a joint meeting of Outside Electrical Workers Local No. 22, and Inside Local No. 1073, was held, for the purpose of reaching agreement on several matters that have been unsettled since the new local was chartered. With the assistance of Ray Cleary, of Chicago, representing the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, who was present, complete understanding was arrived at on all jurisdictional matters and harmony will prevail in the future, it is believed.

Lima local No. 220, American Federation of Musicians, will hold a meeting at 10 o'clock this morning, in Molders' hall, for the purpose of making final disposition of the new band uniforms. All members

To the Democratic Voters of Lima and Vicinity

The past week has seen a rapid growth over the time in favor of the candidacy of D. P. Miller, candidate for commissioner, subject to the Democratic primary, Tuesday.

Born and raised in Richland township, he has been a lifelong Democrat, serving unflinchingly for the best interests and advancement of the party. He has been a successful farmer all his life and is known throughout the Middle West as one of the leading breeders of blooded livestock.

He has the respect and esteem of his neighbors who have elected him to serve for two terms as township trustee. Should he be elected commissioner, Allen county voters may be assured of the same careful and painstaking administration of the county affairs as he has shown in his work as township trustee.

JUDGE MANNIX
FOR CONGRESS

The Judge Mannix Congressional Committee.

TO THE DEMOCRAT VOTERS OF ALLEN COUNTY:

At the primary election August 10th, I am presenting my name as a candidate for Judge of the Probate Court and I earnestly solicit your votes.

This is the first time during the many years of my active work in the ranks of Democracy that I have sought an elective office.

I trust you will believe with me that my experience in the office I now seek together with mature age sufficiently qualify me for efficient service to those having business with the Probate Office and the public generally.

It has ever been my desire to nominate upon our party tickets those men who might best represent with credit the party and I hope that with this same desire at heart you may go to the polls inclined to place your confidence in me to the extent of your vote.

I pledge the citizens of the county my earnest endeavor to faithfully, honorably and impartially discharge the duties of the office, if elected, to the fullest of my ability in a strict adherence to the oath prescribed.

Yours respectfully,

ROBERT B. TOLAN.

BONDS NEED TO ASSURE HEAT

New Apparatus at Children's Home Is Essential.

Voters will be called upon at the primaries Tuesday to register their approval or rejection of a bond issue for $25,000 for the installation of a new heating apparatus, including all necessary equipment and fixtures, at the Allen-Go Children's Home.

A new porch, water tower and other items are to be considered, in the bond issue. The present home was built 20 years ago, constructed on the cottage plan, with dormitories, administration building, school house, conservatory and power house.

One hundred and twenty-five boys and girls, ranging from 2 to 14 years, are housed there.

The heating plant, with years of constant usage, has become obsolete and mechanically defective. It can not be used another season.

"Unless the bond issue passes, those little motherless and fatherless kiddies at the Children's Home are going to be pretty cold next winter," James G. Mackenzie, Allen-Go commissioner, said Saturday.

Allen-Go commissioners are strongly in favor of the project and hope voters will see their way clear to make the bond issue possible.

Superintendent D. W. Higby and his wife, Mrs. Higby, the mother, are much concerned regarding the safety and welfare of their little charges. If unable to secure these needed improvements, the coming winter will be a big bear to them.

The new nursery, much needed there, has been given up this year because of high cost of building materials. It will probably be one of the early operations next spring if conditions are improved.

TO THE DEMOCRATIC VOTERS OF THE FOURTH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

Believing that the customs and traditions of the Democracy in this District still obtain and that third terms in Congress are not advocated by the Democracy, we seek to appeal to the voters at the Primary election of August 10 to support the candidate to whom, in all fairness, we believe is entitled to the nomination for this year. We respectfully recommend to the Democratic readers of this paper the Honorable Geo. W. Mannix, Jr. for consideration at the polls. The past two weeks has witnessed wonderful strides made by Judge Mannix and we firmly believe that he is both the logical and the deserving man for this nomination.

Judge Mannix is making a clean campaign, making no personal attacks on any candidate, and will have no apologies to make after he shall have been nominated, as we firmly and honestly believe he will be.

Our candidate requires no further introduction, because his record, which has been an open book in the Fourth District for thirty years, speaks greater volumes than printed ink and paper.

In Judge Mannix there is embodied sterling statesmanship, true democracy, Americanism, citizenship, tried and true patriotism, loyalty and all that goes to make up a real representative in the halls of Congress. He is a veteran of the Spanish-American War and while he did not bear arms in the World War, his record for sacrifice is unparalleled among the millions of true patriots whom age barriers kept from the Western Front. However, one young brother was both wounded and gassed at St. Mihiel and his cousin, a prominent citizen of Fort Recovery, Ohio, made the supreme sacrifice at Chateau Thierry. Briefly, we have investigated the entire Fourth District and know our candidate logically and theoretically to be the candidate who merits and deserves the united support of the Democracy of this District this year. To the better judgment of the Democratic voters of the Fourth District, we submit his name for consideration at the Primary which will be held August 10th. SHOULD FARM AND HOME OWNERS PAY?

Just a word about the proposed canal: Official data secured from The Bureau of Railway Economics, Washington, D. C. shows that up to 1905 the cost of the Erie Canal was approximately $57,500,000.00 or $163,600.00 per mile. Great volumes of figures have been compiled and are available for any voter interested, but it should suffice for us to say, and we say it authentically, that the cost thereof should be borne freight on this canal is 5.61 mills per ton mile, while the cost of railway transportation per ton mile, by the New York Central is only 6.2 mills, by the Erie 6.1 mills, and 6.4 mills by the Lehigh Valley. Whichever one of these various railways average receipts per ton mile be taken, the cost of transportation on the Erie Canal exceeds it by from 16 to more than 40 per cent. We do not seek to discourage, nor oppose, the proposed canal improvement, but we do think that the cost thereof should be borne by the Government and not assessed, as now proposed, against farms and other realty in the proposed canal zone. We realize that the cost of construction and maintenance, if assessed against real estate, would necessitate a canal zone extending for miles and miles both east and west of the proposed waterway and from the grand-children of present farm and home owners would still be paying the burden of cost for years and years to come. Please give this serious consideration and when you go to the polls, vote for Judge Mannix, and a canal plan that will be practical and, at the same time, will not be directly taxable against your homes and those of your posterity.

Respectfully submitted,
The Mannix Congressional Committee of Allen County

SEES FIERCE WAR IN FOURTH

Columbus Political Writer on Congressional Mixup

DRY LEAGUE IS NERVOUS

Victory in Primary Indispensable to Its Continuance

(BY MARCUS)

COLUMBUS.—What student of history does not recall the comment of William Pitt when he heard of the greatest of Napoleon's victories? "Roll up the map of Europe," quoth he. "It will not be needed again for a decade." These were prophetic words, verified almost to a day were the observations of this large-brained Briton.

Shall like words be spoken by James A. White and Wayne B. Wheeler when the primaries of August 10 are over? Shall they say that the old map of Ohio politics, good since 1905, be rolled up and laid away? For the joint leaders of the Ohio Anti-Saloon League the approaching test in the Republican party may be what Austerlitz was to Pitt, not a defeat but a disaster.

In a word, the coming primaries will remake the map of Ohio in a manner disastrous to those who have held the guiding hand or it will continue their power practically unchanged. The Anti-Saloon League is involved in the result and involved in such a manner as to make victory indispensable to it.

The League openly supports former Governor Frank B. Willis for the Senatorship and demands his nomination. It has demanded the defeat of former Mayor Harry L. Davis, of Cleveland, for the Governorship nomination and while it has never indicated an open choice as between the Davis rivals, Colonel Ralph D. Cole, of Findlay, and Congressman Roscoe C. McCulloch, of Canton, all the state knows that its heart is in the Cole camp. The selection of Davis then would spell the League's downfall in Ohio affairs, probably dry up contributions and might make for a movement for re-organization which even the closest little corporation in America could not withstand.

The League leaders' antics at Chicago and San Francisco have secured some names from the contribution list and impotency in political affairs would take another group. The Governorship, then, is probably a more rigid test of the life of the League influence than the Senatorship, for both Walter F. Brown and Supreme Court Justice R. M. Wena-maker, his rivals, are known of men to be advocates of prohibition, while Davis is an uncompromising liberal who is backed by the city elements just because he is liberal.

The primary test furnishes a practical referendum in the party that was responsible in 1913 for the adoption of the state policy.

Observers agree that the vote in the primary will not be of extraordinary size but probably close to a million will participate in it. The Democratic vote, in normal fashion, will be much lighter than the Republican because voters are not interested in minor contests and there is no major one worthy of the name. The candidacy of Municipal Judge A. F. O'Neill, of Akron, for senatorial honors may hardly be called a contest, pitted as he is against W. A. Julian, of Cincinnati, the choice of the organization. In the provinces there is for more talk of county tickets than of state officers, excepting the Governorship and Senatorship and a State office of Secretary of State. The spectacular feature of testing the primary and intelligence of voters by use of a name similar to that of Judge Harvey C. Smith, Secretary of State and candidate for renomination in the Republican primary, has given it a sporting interest. Smith's friends have devoted their efforts to educating the voters to see the "C," so to speak, the white Smith having his name on the ballot as Harvey C. while the run-in candidate has the name of Harry Clay Smith. The voters, apparently, are paying little attention to former Secretary Charles Q. Hildebrand, who suffers from their neglect.

With the acceptance speech of Governor James M. Cox at Dayton yesterday the issues are made up in the great and solemn referendum on the League of Nations for the national canvass. It was long ago sensed by the watchman on the tower that each champion would become more and more emphatic in his stand, Senator Harding against the League and Governor Cox for it. Thereby is offered a choice to the American people, which, after all, is what elections are for. Makeup of state issues will, of course, be delayed until the Democratic state convention on August 17 and then all will be set to go. Of course, the Republican nominee for Governor will, of necessity, make his own platform for the state convention did not attempt to foreclose judgment on an unnamed candidate. But that ought not to take long.

Words, said the poet, who probably once had been used for breach of promise, are dangerous things. So they are. So they are. In love, business and in other activities chosen words may spoil all just as they may do in politics. Let one who doubts the sagacity of the foregoing observations consult with Roscoe C. McCulloch, M. C., member of Congress, and not necessarily Meddlers of Camps. McCulloch's trouble, if one may be familiar with greatness, was in what he said about the activities of the Three Hundred and thirty-second Regiment of Infantry, which did valiant service in Italy, that to deliver the final blow that won the war. When it was all said, the Canton congressman had simply demonstrated that he was by too credulous to deal with soldiers, who as all the world knows do tell some whoppers. This assault on the regiment, which McCulloch made on the testimony of half a dozen letter-writers, was an incident that had well nigh sunk into oblivion when the former service boys recalled it and began placarding it over the state. It is too late for an apology which the veterans would never accept and whatever harm it may do to the McCulloch candidacy has now been done. Older and wiser heads can only say: "The pity of him, too." But such is fate. The Cantonian probably acted on the best of motives but he was playing with a dangerous substance, the patriotism of soldiers. The military sense breeds a keen sensibility on matters of honor and the stories about the regiment will not be forgotten while a soldier lives.

In one respect, it will be hard for enemies of Advisory Chairman George H. Clark to combat him in the contest for control which is scheduled to come to a head once the primary is out of the way and a new State Central Committee chosen and made ready to function. Clark has the newspaper battery, or rather a corps of publicity experts. If the opposition manages to squeeze a line into the papers the bunch ought to be called on the carpet and reprimanded, that's all. When William Hester was added to the force this week, Clark had half a dozen good writers to expound the cause of the printed word. He has a majority of five over William W. Durbin, who is struggling along over William W. Durbin, who is struggling along over at Jacksonian headquarters with one. Let's hope that the gang brings out all the facts, telling all and concealing nothing. Everybody ought to be for that.

One wonders what is going to happen to young Mr. R. D. Cheseldine, of London, when he arises in his seat to suggest his plan for a mandate over the Republicans of Ohio to be taken by one of the National Committee thru Mr. Will H. Hays. A pretty fair guess might be made now but it would not be kind to a young man just coming into full political bloom to tip him off as to what the old "hard-boiled" members will say. Let him get the benefit of it first hand! He will appreciate it so much more. It can be forecast that the conversation will begin with, "So you want to be on the committee to help run campaigns?" But these are laws against printing what will be said of a member who lets the opposition know how frightened the inner councils of the party really are. Still, there is virtue in the party mandate idea which was given to this old secker after truth some weeks ago by men older—and maybe wiser—than young Mr. Cheseldine, at least in Ohio politics. Where they were as cunning as smokehouse mice, the youthful editor has been bold to the point of danger. That's the difference. They made the proposition to see how it would take and when they got no favorable responses they kept still. There is one thing to be said in favor of the political Lochinvar from old Madison. A new situation has arisen since the scheme first was proposed, this being the feud which has broken out between Harry M. Daugherty and others and Advisory Chairman George H. Clark. It may take more than a mandate to settle this.

Whatever else may be said for the campaign of 1920, it promises to become rich in anecdotes. Other years have produced their single phrases, but this year will pour them forth in a stream, maybe to live but for a day. The year already has 2:11 A. M. as part of its distinctive sets of phrases, but the word, "rough-necks," as applied to liberals is another while the war as seen by the ordinary doughboy is responsible for bringing in "dugout fever," meaning one who remained in the protected underground shelters while the fighting was going on and "packing house rules," meaning thereby the abolition of all ordinary rules of conduct, and "porcelain-climbers," designating those who serve for a candidate to address by way of getting free space in the secular press. Oh, yes, another six weeks ought to work marvels in the way of phrases and all that which the first voters can tell to their grandchildren in the glorious days that are to be.

Over in the Fourth Congressional District, the warriors of both parties are near what would be termed by Senator Harding as "normalcy." In other words they are fighting each other hammer and tongs with dozens of candidates and as many factions as there are prominent partisans. "They're all leaders," according to the expression with long experience as an attempted pacifier. The common solution is not much different from medical treatment of some fevers. They just let it wear itself out, keeping the patient comfortable and well-stimulated. The district is usually Democratic but it appears that many Republicans in the section think that the vote of German farmers will be disaffected as the result of the war and they can slip in. This element, however, seems to be far less cantankerous than was supposed by those who looked the field over and the battling Democrats, pausing in the fray, say that there isn't a Chinaman's chance for election of a Republican Congressman. The district, indeed, is taking little interest in the G. O. P. man to be nominated and one may hear a thousand predictions as to who will have the Democratic preference. Reports from there say that former Prosecuting Attorney John F. Maher, of Greenville, is making strides and may corral the bulk of the large liberal vote. If he does he will be named easily, but friends of Judge George W. Mannix, of Darke, of L. M. Studevant, of Shelby, and of the incumbent, Congressman Ben F. Welty, of Allen, are not ready to make concessions. Studevant is running as a business man, Welty on his canal record. Mannix on his oratory and Maher on his previous performances. They have good cases too.

Meanwhile with all the clamor of politicians—or should we say factional partisans, since "politicians" means those versed in the science of government, there is constant progress recorded in Ohio. When the state insurance fund gets a balance of twenty seven million cold dollars there is something to mention and a gathering of women to take sensible steps to help end the blight of social disease is another step. Cutting down the field of special privilege and enlarging that of public enjoyment is another move of much real importance. In this regard the sportsmen of the state will hail the announcement that Huron marsh, Lake Erie, near Cedar Point, is to be open to duck shooting thru a state lease when the season opens on September 15. It has been closed to the public for forty years. Survey of the lake parks also shows that they have been better patronized. Reports from there say that former Prosecuting Attorney John F. Maher, of Greenville, is making

Dunning System of Improved Music Study

Beginning

September 7th — November 16th, 1920

Many teachers have long felt the need of some reformation along the lines of elementary teaching and these will hail with delight the advent of the Dunning System, and can appreciate the superiority of its methods and apparatus for presenting music by the ease and pleasure with which children grasp this most abstruse science. Plain facts, when clothed in story form, make a deeper impression upon both young and old. Yet none of our stories so interesting and all more than is necessary to make the desired impression. Nothing that is useless or will waste any day have to be unlearned, has any place in this system. With this in view, the games, while intensely interesting, are the best methods of presenting facts with no waste of time. The Dunning System applies to pupils of all ages and is endorsed by such artists as Leschitzky, Scherwinski, Carrero, Gabriellowitch, Busoni, Gade, Viktor Herbert and others.

SENTIMENT IN LIMA FAVORS LEAGUE BASEBALL

HALLORAN OFFERS FIELD AND SERVICE—FOUR CITIES AFTER BERTHS IN NEWLY PROPOSED CIRCUIT

By Joe Bernstein

THE desire for league baseball, and it. Wayne declares that they have been figuring on league ball and are very much interested in the project. Findlay was the only city that had not answered by Saturday night.

The meeting held Friday night at which a number of Lima baseball enthusiasts voiced their opinion regarding the league was encouraging. The proposed circuit, it was felt, could be extended and enlarged to include enough large towns to make an eight team circuit of it, with baseball every day, if it was so desired.

General opinion was to the effect that Lima should have and can support league ball.

Queries sent to the five towns that were originally suggested for the new league brought four answers, only one of them favorable.

Quinn declares that it stands ready to put a team in the circuit. Springfield announces that the proposition looks good to them. Merion says that the suggestion has struck "a responsive chord" in their city.

The financial problem offered by the league, it was felt by those at the meeting, would necessitate a fund of $10,000. It was figured, however, that this sum could be raised by the issuance of stock.

The six games a week plan held sway in the minds of those present since it was feared that the National Commission would not recognize the league except under such a condition.

It was proposed that a meeting of representatives from those towns that are interested in the league, be held within the next month in an effort to build the framework of the proposed circuit.

A man brought forward by the American Legion was also given consideration and may probably result in the league being formed under their auspices.

The plan of the league is for a number of times in this vicinity organize teams under the auspices of the local posts, but to be made up not necessarily of legion men or to be managed by legion managers.

Such a plan would put a solid organization back of the proposed league and would give it a certain amount of individuality.

Several other cities in this state are very much interested in league ball. It has been discovered, those that look the most promising will unquestionably be the ones that will form the final circuit.

Dayton, more than large enough to support league ball, it is understood, would like to get into a circuit. Other chances of landing the Louisville franchise of the American association, looks pretty slim at present, it is thought.

Hamilton is another live baseball town that has been interested in other league projects that have been started around this part of the country and might also be included in the plans for the new circuit.

Indications are at present, that with the interest stirred up in Lima as it is, that the proposed league is no pipe dream.

At the meeting Friday night, some of Lima's most representative sports men were present. The list included George Bayly, Bernie Halloran, K. Lincoln, Jim Morton, H. H. Starrett, Jim Mackenzie, Costy Costello, Maurice Rosenbloom and Jim Burba. J. B. Dugan, A. L. Stolzenbach and Jobey Kauffman, all interested in the project were unable to attend because of other business.

EARL BUTLER SIGNS FOR LEGION PROGRAM
Earl Butler, the Cincinnati 177 pounder, has signed articles with the Lima post, American Legion, for an eight round scrap with Battling Hess of Ft. Wayne for September 9.

It is the scheduled eight round scrap between Earl Butler of Cincinnati and Battling Sammy Hess of Ft. Wayne. The two brawlers are a class of lightweights, and will unquestionably make their little exhibition a worthwhile bout.

They are booked to weigh in at 133 pounds. For the preliminary Gallant has chosen Tommy Warren, the popular Lima heavyweight who is out of Ed Schletter's entanglements, and Spaulding of Mansfield. The minimum weight limit that has been set for these two scrappers is 175 pounds. They will go four rounds.

Warren is touted by some of the Lima boosters as a corner in the heavyweight class. He entered the ring for the first time in an exhibition at Toledo some time ago, slipped a haymaker over on Melich, the Toledo heavyweight who was booked against him.

The scrap for which he has been signed by the Legion will be his second, and his initial appearance before a Lima audience.

Another semi-fatal in which Guy Smith of Ashland, a 143 pound lad will be booked with either one of his class is awaiting the action of Walter Perry, Lima promoter, who has under his wing a lad named Red Young. Perry has not yet returned articles for Young.

NET VICTORIES IN ENGLAND AID U. S.
NEW YORK—The triumphal return of America's tennis stars from conquering Europe's best, both in the Davis cup preliminaries and in the national tournament at Wimbledon is bound to have a very strong effect in stimulating tennis in the United States.

Also the fact that William M. Johnston, our national champion, will be allowed to enter the challenge round in the national singles at Forest Hills, is bound to attract one of the greatest crowds that ever witnessed a tennis match.

When William T. Tilden, survived the eliminations in the Wimbledon tournament, while Johnston has been a great many followers of the game to achieve Tilden a greater player than Johnston.

It is extremely doubtful, however, if this is the case, all Tilden probably has improved some over his same of a year ago.

It will be recalled that Tilden defeated Johnston about a year ago at Longwood, but that when the actual tennis test came—that at Forest Hills in the national singles—Johnston came thru with a remarkable display of court work and defeated Tilden in the final round.

Aside from Maurice McLoughlin, this country never has seen a greater tennis player than Johnston. And it isn't at all certain that the Comet's wonderful smashing game would have passed Johnston as it did others.

Jack Hutchison who just captured the Western Ohio at Chicago, and title which was held three consecutive years by James M. Barnes of Sunset Hills, is entered.

Robert M. Jones of Atlanta, the sensation of golf during the last two years, will be here to attempt to capture the blue ribbon of the golf world.

Entrants declare they have never seen a championship course in better condition than the one at Inverness.

DISCOUNTS MISKE--DEMPSEY BATTLE, LABOR DAY
BY JACK KEENE
JACK DEMPSEY'S match with Billy Miske at Benton Harbor on Labor day is not going to arouse a great deal of enthusiasm in boxing circles. The man from St. Paul never was generally recognized as a contender for championship honors, for the very good reason that he himself did not think that he was capable of winning the title.

When Jess Willard held the honors Miske frankly stated that Jess was too big for him and that he did not want any part of his game. As for Dempsey, after meeting him twice in bouts that went the limit, Miske allowed himself to be quoted as saying that Dempsey could knock him out any time he desired.

This alleged admission on the part of Miske was supposed to have been made to one of the officials at a benefit performance in aid of the Red Cross during war days, it was blazoned forth under prominent headlines, and Miske allowed it to go uncontradicted.

At that time Miske was at the top of his form. At present his physical condition is decidedly doubtful, as he has recently recovered from a long and serious illness. It looks very much as though the loser's end is about all that Miske expects to get out of the match.

If Miske were back in his old-time form he might make a fair showing, although it is best he could expect would be to stay the limit. As for Willie McLean, the only man to stick it out with Dempsey during the time that the Salt Lake terror was making his cham-

INDEPENDENTS TO OPEN FIVE GAME SERIES; PAULDING IS OPPOSITION
HARRY CLARK and his aggregation of baseball stars have invaded the city with the announcement that they're ready to clean-up the world. Clark will pit his outfit against the Lima Independents this afternoon in the opening game of a five game series that will unquestionably decide whether or not his claims are just.

The Paulding outfit is after the Independents scalp, and if there is anything that Harry Clark can do to get it, he'll do it. Clark has practically the same outfit with him this year as he carried during the 1919 season. He still holds down the third base sack in as yet baselined to the outfield and is going as good as ever.

Clark manages his own outfit also. But Lima will be prepared for the Clark aggregation. The outfit, is ready to play real ball, and the Independents last Sunday, but didn't get a chance to get into the argument.

Blauvelt, the Notre Dame port-sider will pitch a hurl for the Independents in today's game. The teams are scheduled to line up as follows:

Independents	Pos.	Paulding
Bainvelt	P.	Hall
Bauerling	C.	Brown
K. Neu	1b.	Ketron
M. Neu	2b.	S. White
Mallow	3b.	Harry Clark
Wentz	ss.	Adcock
Reynolds	lf.	R. Barnes
Costello	cf.	R. White
Egan	rf.	Poorman

Restal, Umpire.
Hall the lad who is pitching for the Paulding outfit, is one of the idols of Lima fans. He hurled a sensational game against the Lima Independents when he was with the Paulding team that played here earlier in the season.

RANDALL'S SECOND WEEK OF GRAND CIRCUIT RACING OPENS MONDAY
CLEVELAND, O.—North Randall's second week of Grand Circuit harness racing this season will open Monday, August 9, with all entrance records for a week's racing on a Grand Circuit track broken.

A grand total of 415 horses eligible to compete is listed in the events. The entry list has quality as well as quantity including the cream of the trotters and pacers of the country.

The entries for the week's racing average well, only three events failing to attract ten or more horses. The free for all pace and the 2:05 trot on Friday have six horses named and eight are eligible to start in the 2:04 pace Monday.

The record number of events is booked for the 2:15 trot on Thursday when no less than 45 horses are eligible to go. Four other events have 30 or more named and six others races 20 or more, making eleven races out of the 19 with at least 20 horses entered.

Secretary Win Kinman announced that all races with 14 or more horses eligible to start have been divided into two or more divisions thus providing five, six or seven races daily instead of four.

GARFORD STEPS INTO TIE FOR FIRST WITH DEISEL WEMMER

INDUSTRIAL LEAGUE SEES UNEXPECTED TURN OF EVENTS IN SATURDAY'S GAMES—GRAMM-BERNSTEIN FORFEITS TO CHALMERS

OHIO STEEL DROPPED TO THIRD; TIE WITH LOCOMOTIVE

DEISEL WEMMER has approached the most critical stage of the industrial league race for the Starratt cup. The league leaders, Saturday, became only joint occupiers of the top notch position when Garford defeated the East Iron Works and edged into a tie with the Cigarmakers.

Incidentally the Ohio Steel aggregation who up to this time was the most formidable competition that the Deisel Wemmer team has been forced to go against, has been dropped into third by the tie.

But the steel workers haven't even got the third position clinched for Locomotive came thru with a win Saturday that boosted them into a tie for third honors.

Chalmers stepped up a notch when Gramm Bernstein forfeited a scheduled contest to them. The Truck builders failed to put in an appearance at the diamond yesterday and Umpire Cook awarded the game to the champions by a 9 to 0 score. The result is that East Iron went into last place.

Gramm Bernstein's failure to appear was due to a reorganization of the plant in which a number of baseball men were dropped from the factory force.

The defeat of East Iron was attributed by the scorer to errors made by new players who had replaced men who were also topped from the payroll at the iron plant.

INDIVIDUAL PERCENTAGES

Individual percentages in fielding and hitting in the industrial league, as compiled by C. L. Waller of the Lima Y. M. C. A., disclose that there are some embryo Tris Speaker and Eddie Collins in the sandlot circuit.

Jenkins of the Scott Refinery takes the honors in hitting with an average of .464. He played in nine games, was at bat officially 28 times, registered five runs and thirteen hits.

Hall of Gramm-Bernstein takes the honors for fielding, having played in seven games, making 52 put outs, seven assists and only two errors. All of Deisel Wemmer's average of 1.000 without a single error being chalked up against any of them. None played in less than six games.

Murphy, of the Locomotive works, leads in base stealing with 16 to his credit in 8 games.

The men who have played in four or more games have standings as follows:

RESURRECTS RULES OF BARNYARD GOLF

COLUMBUS, Ohio.—For the benefit of lovers of the game of horseshoes, a game which seems to be staging a "come back," a local sporting writer has resurrected rules covering the game. They follow:

Distance between pegs—40 feet.

Dimensions of shoes—The limit is 7-2 long and 7 inches wide.

Weight of shoes—Limit, 10 pounds, four ounces.

Length of caulk—Not more than three-fourths of an inch.

Distance between openings—Three and one-half inches, inside measurement.

Height of pegs—Eight inches, and peg not to be more than one inch in diameter.

Scoring—No shoe more than eight inches from the peg shall count. If a player throws two rings and a player following puts both, the original thrower gets credit for one ring. If a player throws a ring and a player following pitches a leaner, the man throwing the ring gets one point.

EARLY SEASON

COLUMBUS, Ohio.—The open season on squirrels in Ohio this year, from September 15 to October 29.

Since the close of last year's season, the state legislature changed the law covering the season that squirrels may be legally hunted.

The state fish and game bureau, in a statement covering the squirrel season, calls attention to the fact that the use of "silencers" on rifles is forbidden by law.

SEYMOUR AND SCHEID LOOM UP AS CONTENDERS FOR TENNIS HONORS

BY MONROE LOWITT

THE fact that Lima has some tennis stars was proven in the opening week of the city tournament, which is being conducted by the Y. M. C. A.

Considering that this is the first tournament that Lima has had in quite a few years, the showing has been remarkably good. Lots of pep has been displayed by all the participants who have played so far and the success of the tourney has been assured.

Several fine exhibitions of very excellent tennis have been shown by the players.

Ned Seymour, the Michigan University star, in defeating Ray Olmstead on Friday, looms up as a likely candidate for top honors. Seymour uncovered a very fast service which proved a puzzle to Olmstead during the entire match. His drives are fast and accurate, and moreover he has a tennis head. Seymour showed that he knew the game.

Theodore G. Scheid Jr., who won the opening day's match displayed some very good tennis. He is a brash player and uses his head all the time.

It looks very certain that these two will meet in the semi-final match on the upper half of the bracket and unless the unexpected happens, the winner should take the final match of the tourney.

In the doubles, as yet it is anybody's race for only one match has been completed thus far and that was forfeited by one of the team.

RAIN INTERRUPTS

Due to the rain of Friday night, only one of the three scheduled matches for Saturday was able to be played. The courts were not in very good shape and as a result two of the matches were postponed until Monday.

"Bill" Cunningham defeated E. J. Shanahan in two fast sets by the scores of 6-2 6-1. Shanahan took the opening game of the match but Cunningham came back strong and took the next five games. A brace on Shanahan's part made the score 5-2. Cunningham took the last game and the set at 6-2. The second set went to Cunningham with little opposition on his opponent's side. Cunningham's service was rather a puzzle to Shanahan who could do very little with it.

The other two matches which were to have been played Saturday were postponed until Monday.

Of the other two matches which were to have been played Saturday, one between Leo Rimer and G. S. Long was put off indefinitely. The other, a set of doubles between Kell and Seymour, and Cleveenger and Cook will be played on Monday evening at the college courts at 5:30.

On Monday, Russell Bivell will face H. A. Sterleton at the college. Scheid and Scheid will play McClain and Traver at Green's court. The Scheids have gained considerable reputation all over the state.

At the Y. it was announced that a silver loving cup would be given to the winner of the single tournament. It will stand about seven inches high and will be engraved with the name of the winner, the date and the name of the tournament. Each member of the winning couples team will receive a reward, a silver medal which will be attached to a ribbon so that it may be worn as a fob. The prizes will be here in time. It was announced they are being paid for by the tennis fund and the "Y."

WINS AGAIN

SARATOGA RACE TRACK, N. Y.—Man O'War galloped home to another victory in the Miller stakes here Saturday, defeating Donna Cons and King Albert, his only opponents. He was played down to 1 to 25 in the betting. The time was 1:55 3/8 for the mile and three-sixteenths, on a fast track.

BRITAINS WIN

DETROIT—Harry Vardon and Edward Ray, English "Pro" golf stars, defeated Walter Hagen and Alex Ross, 3 up and 2 to play in their 36-hole match Saturday.

DEMPSEY READY TO TRAIN IN BIG ARENA

BENTON HARBOR, Mich.—Jack Dempsey, who will defend his title as heavyweight champion against Billy Mike here labor day, will come here the latter part of next week to begin active training, according to Floyd Fitzsimmons promoter of the match.

The champion will train in the big arena to accustom himself to the sun. Fitzsimmons said. Bill Tate, "Panama" Joe Gans and two other sparring partners will accompany Dempsey here from New York.

Officials for the First Annual Field and Track meet to be held Labor day under the auspices of the Lima Industrial Athletic association will be selected at a meeting of the association to be held at the Y. M. C. A. Monday night.

A committee appointed to select men to take charge of the competition will report at that time.

The matter of rules will also be taken up, with a report from I. A. Crawford, president of the organization on the changes that he feels are necessary in order to make the event meet local conditions.

Word from Physical Director Lemon of the Y. M. C. A. who was appointed on the committee for equipment, is to the effect that he has already ordered practically an entire set of field and track materials for the meet.

H. H. Starratt, local sporting goods man, has placed an order for 15 gold, 35 silver and 15 bronze medals to be awarded to the individuals who place in the various events. The medals will be Starratt's individual contribution towards boosting the big meet.

Secretary Biddle has announced during the week that progress on the field is gradually forming of it an ideal place for the event. Thru the courtesy of the Garford Motor truck company it was possible to scrap the truck into a flat running surface.

Matters of importance will be discussed at the meeting Monday night. All representatives of the different factories are urged by President Crawford to be present at the meeting.

POSTPONE SHOW

THE PAS, Nan.—Present indications are that the annual dog derby, to be held here next winter, will be called for the month of January instead of March. The reason for the proposed change of date is that the members, trappers and others who may enter the event have more time to devote to sport during that month than later in the season.

ALLEN-CO FAIR TO OPEN AUG. 24

Attractive Racing Events Scheduled for Each Day

PRIZES FOR FARM PRODUCTS

Entries Can Now be Made, to Close August 23

The Allen-co fair will be held Tuesday, August 24, to Friday, August 27, inclusive, at the driving park grounds, east of the city. W. L. Roeder and M. L. Mayer, both of Lima, are president and secretary, respectively.

The premium list, just issued, has been revised and brought up to date. Increased premiums have been announced in various classes.

E. J. Maitre is superintendent of the speed department. There will be four big days of racing. Rules of the American Trotting association will govern.

RACING EVENTS
The Tuesday card announces a 2:22 pace and a 2:12 trot, with a purse of $400 each and the 2:22 three-year-old Marshall House stakes for $1,000.

Wednesday's card includes a 2:15 pace and a 2:11 trot, with purses of $400 each and the 2:15 pace stake for the prize offered by the Manufacturers' Supply company, Lima, for $1,000.

Thursday racing will see the stake of Lima Lodge of Elks, when $1,000 will be hung on the wire for winners in the 2:12 pace. The 2:18 trot, a $2,000 stake race, prize donated by merchants and manufacturers of Lima, is second on the card. A 2:08 pace, with a $100 prize, is also carded.

A 2:25 trot and a 2:15 pace, with prizes of $100 each, and a 2:14 trot, the San Felipe and El Vafo stakes of $1,000, forms the racing card for Friday.

Harry Patterson, Bluffton, is superintendent of the horse department. H. L. Williams, Harrod, superintendent of the cattle, sheep and swine department.

Poultry will be exhibited under the direction of J. F. Martz, West Cairo, and farm machinery, agricultural implements, manufacturers and motor vehicles will be shown under the direction of Edward Youngpeter, Delphos.

L. M. Roush, Elida, is superintendent of farm products, household productions and fruit. Irvin Ridenour, Perry-twp, is in charge of the department of flowers, plants and grange display.

Chris. Louth, Spencerville, is superintendent of the merchandise department. The educational exhibit, needlework and fine arts will be under the supervision of George L. Brees, Shawnee-twp, as in past years.

Other directors of the Allen-co Agricultural society than those mentioned are G. W. Michael, West Cairo, superintendent of grounds; C. C. Arnold, Lafayette, in charge of admission; G. D. Cremon, Lima, treasurer; Otis Fraunfelder, American-twp, in charge of entries; George L. Brees is vice president of the society.

ENTRIES CLOSE AUG. 23.
Needlework is limited to Allen and adjoining counties. The educational department is limited to Allen-co. Other entries are open to the world and free in all departments, save speed. Entries close in all departments save speed, Monday night, August 23.

The board is now ready to receive entries at their rooms in the court house. Judges begin their work Wednesday, the second day of the fair. There will be a parade of all horses, ponies and cattle on Friday of the fair at 10 o'clock.

Under the swine department, premiums will be awarded boys who are members of the Lima Trust Company's pig club. The first prize is $25; second, $15 and third, $10.

The county will be divided into districts and prizes of $5, $3 and $2 awarded. Anglatze, Jackson and Richard-twp make up one district; Perry, Shawnee and Spencer-twp another district; American, Amador and Marion, one district and Bath, Monroe and Sugar Creek, another district.

CORN CONTEST PRIZES
There is also special prizes for boys in the corn and potato contest. The corn contest is open to all boys under 20 and the potato contest to all boys and girls under 20.

For the best 10 ears of corn, grown and exhibited at the fair, prizes of $5, $1, $3, $2 and $1 will be given. For the best peck of potatoes, grown and exhibited at the fair, prizes of $5, $1, $3, $2 and $1 will be given.

Henry Heffner
Of Perry township said that he would not take $50.00 for his Finger Pad Rupture Supporter, if he could not get another one. Sold and fitted by atoes grown. Like prizes will be awarded. These contests are limited to boys and girls of Allen-co.

HOME-MAKING PRIZES
The home-making department is open to all girls of the county under 18. For the best exhibit prepared and shown, consisting of loaf of white bread, pint can of tomatoes, beans and corn, cherries, pears or peaches and blackberries or raspberries, prizes of $5, $4, $3, $2 and $1 will be given.

Like prizes are also announced for two glasses of jelly, selected from an exhibit of a small glass of currant, blackberry, apple or green, grape jellies and from a small glass of strawberry preserves and rhubarb conserve.

The grange having the attendance the largest per cent of its members during the fair will be awarded a valuable prize, a handsome cup, donated by the Deisel-Weimmer company. This cup is now held by Perry Center grange, which won it last year.

"The true question is—not what we gain, but what we do!"

IN motor car building, as in all other human activity, it is the end attained that counts.

Tomorrow is the test of today. Peerless Motor Cars are made today for a thousand tomorrows. They are our representatives before the world, expressing our desires, our ideals, our principles.

We gain only as they serve. We succeed only as they endure.

THERE IS nothing startling or sensational about this philosophy of business; nor is it exceptionally idealistic. It is fundamentally, constructively practical.

Because of it, more people every year become owners of Peerless Cars. Because of it, Peerless cars feel a higher satisfaction and a deeper confidence in their cars.

Because of it, the Peerless Two-power-range Eight of today is, except for certain refinements, essentially the same car as the Peerless Two-power-range Eight of 1915. For the Peerless of five years ago was built for today, just as the Peerless of today is built for five years hence.

U. S. LAWYERS TO ENDORSE LEAGUE

Majority Committee's Reports Against Reservations

ST. LOUIS.—Ratification of the peace treaty, including the League of Nations covenant, without amendments, will be recommended at the convention of the American Bar Association here, August 25 to 27, inclusive. The recommendation will be in the majority report of a special committee appointed to consider the treaty.

The committee which signed the report was composed of Edgar A. Jancroft, of Chicago, William H. Wadhams, of New York, and the late Frederick N. Judson, of this city.

Charles Blood Smith, of Topeka, Kan., and Henry St. George Tucker, of Lexington, Va., will present a minority report, in which they assert they are "unable to concur" with the majority committee.

Sections of reports to be presented at the convention have been received by members of the local arrangements committee. The reports treat of various subjects.

"Your committee is of the opinion that the treaty, including the proposals for a League of Nations, should be ratified without amendment," the majority report on the treaty declares. "The world is anxious to return to a more settled condition which awaits the termination of the great war. If amendments are proposed by the United States, other governments would undoubtedly propose amendments, and it is unlikely that a second conference could produce a more satisfactory treaty.

"It is particularly fitting that the United States should support the proposal for this League. The League is based upon our own experience in a federation of states enjoying liberty and peace. It has been our high destiny to join with our Allies in preventing the destruction of liberty and establishing it as the governing principle in the life of the states.

"Upon entering the war we expressed it as our desire and purpose to secure not only for ourselves, but for all nations of the world, an enduring peace, based upon those principles of liberty and of justice which we enjoy. The league is organized for that purpose. Should the United States refuse to enter the League it would defeat its organization. It should the United States join, it gives the best assurance of its success."

Dealing with the subject of amendments and reservations, the reports states that amendments are destructive to the pact, and emphasizes that only interpretative reservations should be permitted.

HARRY JUST ESCAPED SURE 'NUF FUNERAL

WHEELING, W. Va. — Buried in a sand pile, in a wooden box, four-year-old Harry Hoffman narrowly escaped death.

The lad and a number of playmates were playing "funeral" little Harry was the "corpse." Harry was pulled in a box when his playmates dragged to a sandpile. Then the young ones made merry, they heaped sand upon the "corpse." The noise of the children attracted Mrs. J. Warnick, who went to the sandpile to find out what the little folk were doing.

Scooping the sand from the box, she tore off the lid and found little Harry unconscious. The lad soon was revived, however.

WELTY WOULD JAIL CROOKS HIGHER UP

Fourth District Representative Gives Inside Information of Interest

Congressman R. P. Welty, who is a candidate for re-election, believes that a man who steals a million should be sent to jail just as well as the man who steals a hundred.

While prosecuting officer for Uncle Sam, Mr. Welty, convicted seventy-seven (77) under the Sherman Anti-Trust law but seven (7) under the Federal Courts, refused to send these violators to jail for a single day.

Mr. Welty said that twelve papers were put out of business in this Congressional District since he was in Congress, and that the trusts are attempting to put all country papers out of business so they can control what the people read and send such men to Congress as will do their bidding.

The first thing Mr. Welty did after his election to Congress was to file a bill providing for the appointment of the Federal judges for a term of years instead of for life, as now provided by our Constitution.

The steering committee, every member of which is a millionaire, refused to let the Welty bill come up to the House. Congress indeed passed a bill permitting three judges to retire at 70 with full pay, but not a single member of the Supreme Court has taken advantage, even though one member is past 81 years and about half of its members are over 70 years.

The only persons sent to prison under the Sherman Anti-Trust law since its passage by Congress in 1890 are a few farmers and laborers, but not a single person who made millions in violation of this law ever received a sentence of one day in jail.

Mr. Welty further said that because of this condition the Attorney General of the United States is unable to break up either the coal or the sugar trust. We seemingly have lost our sovereignty as a State, Governor Cox last winter asked the Attorney General to prosecute these trusts and combinations under our State laws, but what have they done? They have been able to secure a few local retail dealers who make two or three cents on sugar dishing it out by the pound, but not a single gun has been trained against those who steal 15 and 20 cents a pound.

If our Common Pleas courts would appoint a jury the price of coal and sugar would tumble, for they know that the State Courts would send some of them to jail.

According to press reports, The American Wooden Mills during the last year made fifteen millions in the manufacturing of ladies' garments.
